Judge Ammer Plans Motion Aimed At Dissolving Conservancy District

Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer, a member and secretary of the Scioto Conservancy District Court, said today he plans to make a motion to dissolve the district at a future meeting of the five-judge court.

Judge Ammer, along with the other four judges, has come under strong criticism the past several weeks from property owners who would be assessed for costs of the proposed flood control program.

Hundreds of letters protesting the proposed SCD program have been sent to the court. Judge Ammer indicated his decision to make a motion to end plans for flood control is being based on the objections of the people.

The last meeting of the SCD Court was held here Friday when the firm of Lane Huggard & Alton was retained, on a motion by Ammer, for an injunction hearing in September. Judge Ammer indicated he would make his motion at the next meeting of the court.

IN EXPRESSING his personal opinion on the subject, Ammer said the entire picture has been stretched "far out of its true shape." He said he was not passing on, or expressing any opinion on legal questions to be determined by the court.

Giving background on the forming of the district, Ammer pointed out that it was Columbus Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner (acting as a taxpayer), the City of Columbus and Pickaway and Pike Counties who filed appeals to prevent the dissolution of the old Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District.

"Let me emphasize here," the judge said, "that the old Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District was formed in 1934 and had been able to accomplish very little because it had tried to get the Army Engineers to do the job."

"We should also bear in mind that the new SCD was formed on the plea and initiative of the City of Columbus with unanimous action by all its elected officials."

Ammer said the civic group leaders and elected officials who are now protesting the plan

200 Viet Nam Students Rap Khanh Move

U.S. Is Accused
Of Intervening in Internal Affairs

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — About 200 students challenged Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh's right to assume the presidency and accused the United States of intervening in South Vietnamese domestic affairs at a noisy rally in the Student Union headquarters today.

Khanh had broadcast a veiled threat that the youths stood a chance of being drafted into the army if they demonstrated against his government. Referring to the scheduled meeting, he said the students could control their own destinies, "which are being decided within a few hours."

He suggested the students continue their school work, but said if they wish "to participate in the struggle of the whole Vietnamese people, the armed forces will welcome them with open arms."

Evidently heeding that warning, the students stayed inside and did not demonstrate. Police kept the building under surveillance. The meeting was the first of a series scheduled this week and next that is expected later to include street marches.

Student leaders declared the ruling military council, in which Khanh moved up from premier to president Sunday, is not representative of the people.

Others declared that American officials instigated Khanh's election as president, in which he supplanted the popular Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh as chief of state.

Authorities were braced for possible anti-government demonstrations by Buddhists. As a precaution, they quietly dismantled a monument to the late President John F. Kennedy. The U.S. Embassy was reported to have concurred in this removal of a potential target for street mobs.

The concrete slab was removed Tuesday night from a main square in Saigon, where it had stood in front of the city's Roman Catholic cathedral.

Owner Offers $1000 Reward For Poodle

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — It's costing exactly $1,000 for the return of their 4-year-old pedigree French poodle, Fifi, but Dr. Marianne Tahl says "she's worth it."

Dr. Tahl and her husband, Henry, also a doctor, left their two French poodles in the care of a friend in Los Alamitos, Calif., when they left to look for a permanent house in Evanston.

On July 1 Fifi walked away. Mrs. Tahl promptly offered a $1,000 reward in an ad in the Long Beach Independent. "If you have two French poodles and you've grown fond of them, and one disappears — you just got to get it back," she said.

Monday night, Dr. Tahl's California friends received a telephone call from Doug Darch, a tool and die worker who lives in nearby Hermosa Beach. He had Fifi.

Dr. Tahl said she would be happy to pay Darch the $1,000.

Ruby Labeled as Loner In Slaying of Oswald

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Ruby, in purported secret testimony given to the Warren Commission, said it was strictly his own idea to kill Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy.

In a copyrighted story Tuesday by Journal-American columnist Dorothy Kilgallen, Ruby is quoted as having told Warren June 7:

"I was never malicious toward this person. No one else requested me to do anything. I never spoke to anyone about attempting to do anything. No subversive organization gave me any idea. No underworld persons made any effort to contact me. It all happened that Sunday morning."

The Dallas Times-Herald also published an article Tuesday that it said quoted the testimony. Some of the quotes were the same as those in the Journal-American.

The report of the commission, headed by U.S. Chief Justice Earl Warren, is expected to be published in mid-September.

In a Washington dispatch today, the New York Times reported commission officials have expressed distress concerning the Journal-American article which, on superficial examination, appeared to contain verbatim secret testimony.

The officials were not identified by the Times.

Ruby shot and killed Oswald in the basement of Dallas Police Headquarters last Nov. 24, two days after Kennedy was assassinated.

It became known less than a month later that the FBI, and state and city police had concluded that Oswald acted alone and that Ruby had no connection with the plan to assassinate Kennedy.

Miss Kilgallen said she obtained the actual transcript of Warren's interview with Ruby "from sources close to the Warren Commission in Washington." The article was the first of three scheduled articles. Ruby did not testify during his murder trial and his attorney, Melvin Belli, tried to prove him insane at the time the murder was committed.

The Journal-American quotes Ruby as telling Warren:

"Mr. Belli evidently did not go into my case thoroughly circumstantially. If he had gone into it, he wouldn't have tried to vindicate me on an insanity plea to relieve me of all responsibility, because circumstantially everything looks so bad for me. It can happen — it happens to many people who happen to be in the wrong place at the right time."

Syncom Set For Olympics

'Moon' To Take
Spot over Pacific

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Syncom 3 communications satellite, intended to relay television pictures of the October Olympic Games in Japan quickly to North America and Europe, rocketed into a preliminary orbit today en route to a planned stationary post high above the Pacific Ocean.

Officials were cheered by the early success of the mission. But the "Olympic Star" satellite must execute a number of complex maneuvers in the next 12 days to shift its orbit and reach its goal as the world's first truly synchronous — stationary — satellite.

While Syncom 3 is a research vehicle and television is not its main job, successful intercontinental transmission of Olympic pictures would be the most dramatic performance so far by communications satellites.

U.S., Japanese, Canadian and European interests plan to spend nearly $1 million to demonstrate Olympic television capability with Syncom 3. Practically none of the transmission will be live, primarily because of time differences, and ironically, Canadian and European viewers probably will see more of the film relayed by Syncom 3 than will those in the United States.

The three-stage TAD-thrust augmented Delta — rocket barreled away from Cape Kennedy at 7:15 a.m. (EST) to propel the drum-shaped satellite into the "transfer" orbit — a great egg-shaped route ranging from 695 to 23,675 miles above the earth and requiring 11 hours, 35 minutes for each pass.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported 30 minutes after launching that all three rocket stages had performed as planned and the 145-pound package of communications instruments was on course and sending strong signals.

TV Debates Ruled Out By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats have relieved President Johnson of the burden of deciding whether to debate Sen. Barry Goldwater in a radio-television campaign confrontation.

They locked horns with Republicans over the issue of who is chicken.

By a 44-41 vote the Senate tabled Tuesday night — and thus killed — legislation to suspend equal time provisions of the Communications Act.

The measure was similar to the one which paved the way for Kennedy-Nixon debates in 1960.

Twelve Democrats joined 29 Republicans in opposing the tabling. All the 44 votes to kill were cast by Democrats.

The rejected bill would have suspended for 60 days the requirement that if a network offered free time to any presidential candidate, it would have to give equal time to all, including those of perhaps a dozen minor parties.

Although nobody concerned would say publicly that Johnson wanted the bill killed, the action came after Democratic legislative leaders had conferred with him at the White House.

Turkish Air Units Returned to NATO

PARIS (AP) — Turkish air units withdrawn from the Atlantic Alliance defense system last week were returned today to NATO command.

The Turkish units were withdrawn for use in carrying out sorties over Greek Cypriot positions on Cyprus.

A spokesman for Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe said Turkey informed NATO early today it was returning the units to NATO control.

Stiff Rights Policing Asked

Negro Leader
Pleads to Dems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil rights leader Roy Wilkins urged Democratic platform writers today to pledge vigorous enforcement of the new civil rights law and give the country a contrast with what he called the "squeamish circumlocution" of the Republican plank.

Wilkins, chairman of the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights and secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, declared that "the riots which have shaken several urban communities cannot be condoned." He said they must be understood against a background of deprivation and frustration.

Wilkins' testimony was prepared for the Democratic platform committee as it concentrated on the civil rights issue, considered the most difficult to treat in a plank acceptable to all wings of the party.

A trial balloon floated by some Southern moderates for a compromise statement that might avoid a floor fight appeared to have been shot down when Pierre Pelham, a committee member from Alabama, said Tuesday he could accept nothing less than a call for repeal of the Civil Rights Act.

The Republican platform language that aroused Wilkins' scorn includes a call for "full implementation and faithful execution" of new and old civil rights laws, improvements as needed and any necessary action to ensure the right to vote.

But Wilkins said the slogan, "leave civil rights matters to the states has become the hallmark" of Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate. Goldwater has said he accepts the Republican platform and, as president, would enforce the laws.

Cigarette Consumption Soars Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cigarettes have rocketed back from the slump that followed a government report in January linking them to lung cancer and heart disease.

U.S. factories shipped almost 45.2 billion cigarettes in June — an increase of about 8.5 per cent over June 1963, the Internal Revenue Service announced today.

While cigarettes were making their comeback, cigar sales dropped in June.

Small cigars, to which many switched early this year, took a nosedive. Shipments dropped from 190 million in May to 38 million in June. But the June figure was still double that for small cigars in June 1963.

The slump in cigarette sales had set in right after the government committee headed by Surgeon General Luther L. Terry issued its report in January. There was a considerable rebound in April, but June was the first month to show a sizable increase over the corresponding month of 1963.

June's 8.5 per cent increase compares to a normal year-to-year increase of 2 or 3 per cent.

Mobile Unit Due Friday

County Is Short Of Blood Quota

An all-out attempt to decrease the community's deficit collection will be made when the Red Cross Bloodmobile visits here Friday.

Pickaway County now stands 99 pints short of its quota to date. Local officials are hoping this deficit will be lightened when the Bloodmobile sets up operations Friday at the First Methodist Church from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Pickaway is scheduled for eight visits from the mobile blood collection unit this year. The quota each visit is 125 pints. This means the community is striving for 1,000 pints for 1964.

As of June, which was visit No. 5 here by the Bloodmobile, only 526 pints were collected. This represents 84 per cent of quota — or 99 pints short.

Blood program officials have explained that this community must maintain at least 75 per cent of quota per quarter or face the possibility of a probationary period of improved recruitment.

Should this probationary period be leveled, further participation in the blood program, under existing conditions, will be denied Pickaway County. In this event, recipients of blood will be obliged to replace blood received.

A look at the records shows that last year Pickaway County donated only 858 pints out of the 1,000 quota. The community received 1,060 pints.

The local Red Cross and blood program officials, aware that a vacation time is at hand, are making a concentrated effort to promote a successful mobile unit visit Friday despite all the usual summer activity. They feel this must be done if the county is to lessen its quota shortage.

Experts Say First Family Is Worth $3.4 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — An accounting firm hired at the direction of President Johnson reported today that the Johnson family fortune totals $3,484,098.

The firm of Haskins & Sells said the President and Mrs. Johnson and their two daughters, Lynda Bird and Luci Baines, had total assets of $3,682,770 as of July 31.

On the same date, the family had liabilities of $198,672, which reduced their net worth to $3,484,098.

The accounting firm said President Johnson's assets amounted to $477,417 and his liabilities were $99,336.

The detailed statistical table made it evident that most of the Johnson wealth is held in the name of the First Lady. Mrs. Johnson's assets were said to total $2,225,634 with liabilities of $99,336.

This gave Mrs. Johnson a net

worth of $2,126,298 compared with $378,081 for the chief executive.

Lynda Bird Johnson's assets were put at $490,141. Those of her sister Luci Baines were given as $489,578.

The table listed no liabilities for either of the daughters.

During recent months, published estimates of the size of the Johnson fortune have ranged from about $4 million to $14 million.

It seemed apparent that much of this broad spread could be accounted for by using different methods of estimating the Johnson wealth.

If wealth is figured on the book value of securities held, it can conceivably be many times lower than if figures on the basis of the current market value of the same securities.

Robert Van Arsdale, resident partner for Haskins & Sells Washington, declined to answer any questions about the five-page financial statement. He referred all questions to Everett Shifflet, a partner in the firm's New York headquarters.

"I'm not familiar with what's in the report," Van Arsdale said. He said the document was

Driving, Walking, He Gets Tickets

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A Dayton motorist was turned to a pedestrian Tuesday when police stopped his car bearing altered expired 10-day license tags. They found he didn't have a driver's license either.

Patrolman R. R. Kearney wrote the man three tickets and went on his way.

About four hours later, Kearney spotted a man running across the street against the light. The patrolman called the man over to give him a jaywalking ticket.

It was the same man Kearney had stopped earlier.

"I'm not even going to go in to work," the man said helplessly. "I'm just going to go home and go to bed."

Quiet Beatle Frenzy Hanging over Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A quiet frenzy hung like fog in the air today as thousands of youngsters prepared to storm the Cow Palace for the Beatles' concert tonight.

The Beatles arrived Tuesday and were greeted by an estimated 9,000 teen-agers, far below predicted estimates of between 50,000 and 100,000. About a dozen girls required first aid. None was seriously hurt.

Fumes Rout Tampa Folks

Chemical Explodes;
Hundreds Treated

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Hundreds of persons were routed from their homes by noxious fumes Tuesday night after a 55-gallon drum of underwater weed killer exploded at a chemical plant.

More than 100 persons were treated at hospital emergency rooms for eye and nose irritations, cramps and nausea.

The fumes, from a chemical called acrolein, billowed from open doors and windows into the heavily populated, mostly Negro neighborhood. Mass traffic jams caused by curious onlookers hampered firemen and police trying to reach the area in gas masks.

"First you choke, then you get abdominal cramps and nausea," said Vernon Barchard, photographer for the Tampa Tribune. "I vomited 15 minutes."

Police Capt. L. J. Buchanan and fireman Lionel Hernandez, were hospitalized for observation.

Herbert Friedman, president of Southern Mill Creek Chemical Co., where the explosion occurred, said the chemical fumes were not poisonous.

Friedman said he was in the plant office when he heard an explosion about 8 p.m. He said the chemical apparently built up pressure inside the container, blowing off the top and spewing snowflake-size powder over a store room.

Firemen, wearing gas masks and rubber suits, entered the four-story building to cap the drum. Many were overcome when fumes seeped through loose masks.

Police, using sound trucks, ordered evacuation of a 16-square block area around the plant. Firemen, using hoses, brought the fumes under control shortly before midnight.

Range Fire Fighters Seek Aid from Rain

ELKO, Nev. (AP) — Fire fighters planned to resort to cloud seeding today in hopes of creating more rain to help them control huge fires which have blazed in northeast Nevada since Saturday.

Bureau of Land Management officials estimated that about 350,000 acres of valuable range land have been burned in the fire-stricken region, declared a disaster area by Gov. Grant Sawyer.

Showers late Tuesday helped contain two of the fires, but winds fanned the massive Boulder Flat-Maggie Creek blaze northwest of Elko through 15 miles of grass and brush in a few hours.

The Boulder Flat-Maggie Creek complex accounted for more than 180,000 acres of blackened range in an area 30 to 40 miles west and northwest of Elko.

Some lightning flashed Tuesday, but there were no reports of new fires. Nearly all the big blazes of the past five days were set by lightning.

Fire crews totaled about 2,000 men, many of them Indian professionals from throughout the West.

Airport Is Lauded

ORRVILLE, Ohio (AP) — "I wish there were 100 more like it in Ohio," Gov. James A. Rhodes said after inspecting this community's new airport Tuesday. "Every city should have one to attract industry," added the governor.

Mound St. Improvement Job Stirs Debate in City Council

Efforts to move ahead with delayed improvement work on Mound St. created a short but lively discussion last night in City Council.

The problem stems from the failure to date of a property owner to install curbs and gutters along two lots on E. Mound, a step councilmen deem necessary before grading and paving can be completed from Pickaway St. west to the vicinity of Western Ave. Initial work started there about a month ago.

The solons passed an ordinance authorizing the service director to proceed with construction of the necessary curbs and gutters, but not before Councilman Boyd Horn had lodged a vigorous objection that such legislation might involve the city in a lawsuit.

Horn, the first time around, voted "no" on suspension of rules, sufficient to hold the measure to first reading in that solon Keith Wagner was absent. The Fourth Ward legislator was urged to reconsider his negative stand.

SOLICITOR Kenneth Robbins and Mayor Ben Gordon pointed out the continued delay that would result if the ordinance was held to first reading. They, along with other councilmen, described how the Trinity Lutheran and Presbyterian Churches, the Mader Funeral Home and residents are being deprived of street use due to preliminary work that has not been completed.

They said the section now under construction, running about half way between Pickaway and Court Sts., can be completed in about a week if the necessary curbs and gutters are installed. Horn finally voiced a reluctant "yes" vote.

Horn defended his stand by saying it would be a needless waste of city money in case a suit should arise on behalf of the property owner involved.

The land in question is owned by Luther Ruff, 159 E. Mound St.

The amount of money involved in the controversial curbs and gutters is $240.60.

A resolution declaring necessity of constructing the curbs and gutters was adopted by Council on July 7. Last night's ordinance authorized the service director to proceed with the installation, along with making the money available.

The resolution of July 7 provided for necessary assessments

Experts Say First Family Is Worth $3.4 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — An accounting firm hired at the direction of President Johnson reported today that the Johnson family fortune totals $3,484,088.

The firm of Haskins & Sells said the President and Mrs. Johnson and their two daughters, Lynda Bird and Luci Baines, had total assets of $3,682,770 as of July 31.

On the same date, the family had liabilities of $198,672, which reduced their net worth to $3,484,088.

The accounting firm said President Johnson's assets amounted to $477,417 and his liabilities were $99,336.

The detailed statistical table made it evident that most of the Johnson wealth is held in the name of the First Lady. Mrs. Johnson's assets were said to total $2,225,634 with liabilities of $99,336.

This gave Mrs. Johnson a net

worth of $2,126,298 compared with $378,081 for the chief executive.

Lynda Bird Johnson's assets were put at $490,141. Those of her sister Luci Baines were given as $489,578.

The table listed no liabilities for either of the daughters.

During recent months, published estimates of the size of the Johnson fortune have ranged from about $4 million to $14 million.

It seemed apparent that much of this broad spread could be accounted for by using different methods of estimating the Johnson wealth.

If wealth is figured on the book value of securities held, it can conceivably be many times lower than if figures on the basis of the current market value of the same securities.

Robert Van Arsdale, resident partner for Haskins & Sells Washington, declined to answer any questions about the five-page financial statement. He referred all questions to Everett Shifflet, a partner in the firm's New York headquarters.

"I'm not familiar with what's in the report," Van Arsdale said. He said the document was (Continued on Page Two)

Driving, Walking, He Gets Tickets

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A Dayton motorist was turned to a pedestrian Tuesday when police stopped his car bearing altered expired 10-day license tags. They found he didn't have a driver's license either.

Patrolman R. R. Kearney wrote the man three tickets and went on his way.

About four hours later, Kearney spotted a man running across the street against the light. The patrolman called the man over to give him a jaywalking ticket.

It was the same man Kearney had stopped earlier.

"I'm not even going to go in to work," the man said helplessly. "I'm just going to go home and go to bed."

Quiet Beatle Frenzy Hanging over Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A quiet frenzy hung like fog in the air today as thousands of youngsters prepared to storm the Cow Palace for the Beatles' concert tonight.

The Beatles arrived Tuesday and were greeted by an estimated 9,000 teen-agers, far below predicted estimates of between 50,000 and 100,000. About a dozen girls required first aid. None was seriously hurt.

Fumes Rout Tampa Folks

Chemical Explodes;
Hundreds Treated

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Hundreds of persons were routed from their homes by noxious fumes Tuesday night after a 55-gallon drum of underwater weed killer exploded at a chemical plant.

More than 100 persons were treated at hospital emergency rooms for eye and nose irritations, cramps and nausea.

The fumes, from a chemical called acrolein, billowed from open doors and windows into the heavily populated, mostly Negro neighborhood. Mass traffic jams caused by curious onlookers hampered firemen and police trying to reach the area in gas masks.

"First you choke, then you get abdominal cramps and nausea," said Vernon Barchard, photographer for the Tampa Tribune. "I vomited 15 minutes."

Police Capt. L. J. Buchanan and fireman Lionel Hernandez, were hospitalized for observation.

Herbert Friedman, president of Southern Mill Creek Chemical Co., where the explosion occurred, said the chemical fumes were not poisonous.

Friedman said he was in the plant office when he heard an explosion about 8 p.m. He said the chemical apparently built up pressure inside the container, blowing off the top and spewing snowflake-size powder over a store room.

Firemen, wearing gas masks and rubber suits, entered the four-story building to cap the drum. Many were overcome when fumes seeped through loose masks.

Police, using sound trucks, ordered evacuation of a 16-square block area around the plant. Firemen, using hoses, brought the fumes under control shortly before midnight.

Range Fire Fighters Seek Aid from Rain

ELKO, Nev. (AP) — Fire fighters planned to resort to cloud seeding today in hopes of creating more rain to help them control huge fires which have blazed in northeast Nevada since Saturday.

Bureau of Land Management officials estimated that about 350,000 acres of valuable range land have been burned in the fire-stricken region, declared a disaster area by Gov. Grant Sawyer.

Showers late Tuesday helped contain two of the fires, but winds fanned the massive Boulder Flat-Maggie Creek blaze northwest of Elko through 15 miles of grass and brush in a few hours.

The Boulder Flat-Maggie Creek complex accounted for more than 180,000 acres of blackened range in an area 30 to 40 miles west and northwest of Elko.

Some lightning flashed Tuesday, but there were no reports of new fires. Nearly all the big blazes of the past five days were set by lightning.

Fire crews totaled about 2,000 men, many of them Indian professionals from throughout the West.

Communication Satellite Aloft

Syncom Set For Olympics

'Moon' To Take
Spot over Pacific

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Syncom 3 communications satellite, intended to relay television pictures of the October Olympic Games in Japan quickly to North America and Europe, rocketed into a preliminary orbit today en route to a planned stationary post high above the Pacific Ocean.

Officials were cheered by the early success of the mission. But the "Olympic Star" satellite must execute a number of complex maneuvers in the next 12 days to shift its orbit and reach its goal as the world's first truly synchronous — stationary — satellite.

While Syncom 3 is a research vehicle and television is not its main job, successful intercontinental transmission of Olympic pictures would be the most dramatic performance so far by communications satellites.

U.S., Japanese, Canadian and European interests plan to spend nearly $1 million to demonstrate Olympic television capability with Syncom 3. Practically none of the transmission will be live, primarily because of time differences, and ironically, Canadian and European viewers probably will see more of the film relayed by Syncom 3 than will those in the United States.

The three-stage TAD-thrust augmented Delta — rocket barreled away from Cape Kennedy at 7:15 a.m. (EST) to propel the drum-shaped satellite into the "transfer" orbit — a great egg-shaped route ranging from 695 to 23,675 miles above the earth and requiring 11 hours, 35 minutes for each pass.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported 30 minutes after launching that all three rocket stages had performed as planned and the 145-pound package of communications instruments was on course and sending strong signals.

Ruby Labeled as Loner In Slaying of Oswald

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Ruby, in purported secret testimony given to the Warren Commission, said it was strictly his own idea to kill Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy.

In a copyrighted story Tuesday by Journal-American columnist Dorothy Kilgallen, Ruby is quoted as having told Warren June 7:

"I was never malicious toward this person. No one else requested me to do anything. I never spoke to anyone about attempting to do anything. No subversive organization gave me any idea. No underworld persons made any effort to contact me. It all happened that Sunday morning."

The Dallas Times-Herald also published an article Tuesday that it said quoted the testimony. Some of the quotes were the same as those in the Journal-American.

The report of the commission, headed by U.S. Chief Justice Earl Warren, is expected to be published in mid-September.

In a Washington dispatch today, the New York Times reported commission officials have expressed distress concerning the Journal-American article which, on superficial examination, appeared to contain verbatim secret testimony.

The officials were not identified by the Times. Ruby shot and killed Oswald in the basement of Dallas Police Headquarters last Nov. 24, two days after Kennedy was assassinated.

It became known less than a month later that the FBI, and state and city police had concluded that Oswald acted alone and that Ruby had no connection with the plan to assassinate Kennedy.

Miss Kilgallen said she obtained the actual transcript of Warren's interview with Ruby "from sources close to the Warren Commission in Washington." The article was the first of three scheduled articles. Ruby did not testify during his murder trial and his attorney, Melvin Belli, tried to prove him insane at the time the murder was committed.

The Journal-American quotes Ruby as telling Warren:

"Mr. Belli evidently did not go into my case thoroughly circumstantially. If he had gone into it, he wouldn't have tried to vindicate me on an insanity plea to relieve me of all responsibility, because circumstantially everything looks so bad for me. It can happen — it happens to many people who happen to be in the wrong place at the right time."

Ohio's Road Share Said $228 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Apportionment of $3.8 billion among the states to continue the national highway program in the fiscal year starting July 1, 1965 was announced today by the Commerce Department.

The apportionment includes $2.8 billion for the 41,000-mile interstate system — scheduled for completion in 1972.

The remaining $1 billion is for the so-called ABC program which involves the construction and repair of primary and secondary systems and their urban extensions.

Ohio was apportioned $38,450,299 in ABC funds and $190,563,800 in interstate aid.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A 680-pound barrow won two prizes at the Illinois State Fair, but the strain of competition apparently was too much. It suffered a heart attack.

The hog, owned by Alvin Lehmann of Pleasant Plains, Ill., suffered the attack in its pen Tuesday.

Mound St. Improvement Job Stirs Debate in City Council

Efforts to move ahead with delayed improvement work on Mound St. created a short but lively discussion last night in City Council.

The problem stems from the failure to date of a property owner to install curbs and gutters along two lots on E. Mound, a step councilmen deem necessary before grading and paving can be completed from Pickaway St. west to the vicinity of Western Ave. Initial work started there about a month ago.

The council passed an ordinance authorizing the service director to proceed with construction of the necessary curbs and gutters, but not before Councilman Boyd Horn had lodged a vigorous objection that such legislation might involve the city in a lawsuit.

Horn, the first time around, voted "no" on suspension of rules, sufficient to hold the measure to first reading in that solon Keith Wagner was absent. The Fourth Ward legislator was urged to reconsider his negative stand.

Solicitor Kenneth Robbins and Mayor Ben Gordon pointed out the continued delay that would result if the ordinance was held to first reading. They, along with other councilmen, described how the Trinity Lutheran and Presbyterian Churches, the Mader Funeral Home and residents are being deprived of street use due to preliminary work that has not been completed.

They said the section now under construction, running about half way between Pickaway and Court Sts., can be completed in about a week if the necessary curbs and gutters are installed. Horn finally voiced a reluctant "yes" vote.

Horn defended his stand by saying it would be a needless waste of city money in case a suit should arise on behalf of the property owner involved. The land in question is owned by Luther Ruff, 159 E. Mound St.

The amount of money involved in the controversial curbs and gutters is $240.60.

A resolution declaring necessity of constructing the curbs and gutters was adopted by Council on July 7. Last night's ordinance authorized the service director to proceed with the installation, along with making the money available.

The resolution of July 7 provided for necessary assessments (Continued on Page 18)

TV Debates Ruled Out By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats have relieved President Johnson of the burden of deciding whether to debate Sen. Barry Goldwater in a radio-television campaign confrontation.

They locked horns with Republicans over the issue of who is chicken.

By a 44-41 vote the Senate tabled Tuesday night — and thus killed — legislation to suspend equal time provisions of the Communications Act.

The measure was similar to the one which paved the way for Kennedy-Nixon debates in 1960.

Twelve Democrats joined 29 Republicans in opposing the tabling. All the 44 votes to kill were cast by Democrats.

The rejected bill would have suspended for 60 days the requirement that if a network offered free time to any presidential candidate, it would have to give equal time to all, including those of perhaps a dozen minor parties.

Although nobody concerned would say publicly that Johnson wanted the bill killed, the action came after Democratic legislative leaders had conferred with him at the White House.

Turkish Air Units Returned to NATO

PARIS (AP) — Turkish air units withdrawn from the Atlantic Alliance defense system last week were returned today to NATO command.

The Turkish units were withdrawn for use in carrying out sorties over Greek Cypriot positions on Cyprus.

A spokesman for Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe said Turkey informed NATO early today it was returning the units to NATO control.

Johnson Says: We Demand Respect for Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saying it is time to speak frankly on racial troubles, President Johnson has declared the nation's fate will not be decided "by street rioters and night raiders."

"We demand — and we are going to have — respect for law and order in this land," Johnson said Tuesday in addressing members of the Citizens Committee for Community Relations that will help implement the new Civil Rights Act.

Using the occasion to lecture the country on the racial issue, Johnson spoke sharply about speculation on the effects of the "white backlash" in the forthcoming election.

He said it is time to "cease this cynical guessing of who will be helped — who will be hurt — by disorders and disobedience and disrespect for the decency of our society."

"All will be hurt — none will be helped — if responsible citizens sit on the sidelines regarding the stability of our society as a spectator sport."

The question facing the nation, he said, is not how whites or Negroes will vote in November, "the question is how we shall work together and succeed together for the next hundred Novembers to come."

Americans, he said, can master the racial problem "or we can leave it to master us" and the question all citizens must ask themselves is "are we prepared to give up our prosperity and peace and let our prejudices make paupers of us all?"

"Are we of this generation to be remembered for allowing America's progress to run aground on the shoals of race?"

A nation of courage, compassion and common sense, Johnson added, "must not and will not allow its greatness to be degraded by those who work only for its division."

The President returned to the subject of racial problems later in the day when he spoke to some 90 U.S. marshals, in town for a conference, gathered on the White House lawn.

He reminded the marshals "that lawlessness is found in many places and many forms" and added: "sophisticated syndicates which systematically evade the law are no more tolerable to a law-abiding society than spontaneous street demonstrations which degenerate into disregard for the law."

City Councilman Questions Operation of Law Library

Operation of the Pickaway County Law Library came under question last night by City Councilman Robert Hedges.

Hedges based his complaint on the lack of a detailed report, required by state statute, showing expenditures of the law library. He claimed he would like to know where the money goes, especially the approximate $10,000 he asserted the city and local Municipal Court disbursed to the operation last year.

Emmitt L. Crist, treasurer for the Law Library, today said a detailed expenditure report was not filed this year. He said this procedure was followed mainly because the library currently is operating under a deficit.

Crist said the debt in part could be attributed to the city's failure to contribute to the library the past several years as required by law. The legal establishment's sources of income are the City of Circleville, Municipal Court and smaller amounts from the county.

HEDGES, referring to the proper statute, said any excess

Turks Await Lifting of Blockade

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Turkish Cypriots waited with skepticism today for President Makarios to fulfill his promise to allow food, fuel and medicine to enter blockaded Turkish Cypriot areas.

A Turkish Cypriot spokesman welcomed the pledge as "an encouraging first step." But he accused Makarios, a Greek Cypriot, of breaking agreements before and said, "Therefore, we will have to wait and see."

Makarios' pledge to the U.N. Command Tuesday to allow movements into some beleaguered communities could eliminate a source of trouble, but other developments indicated the Cyprus crisis could come to a boil again.

After another round of talks with Greek leaders, Cyprus Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou disclosed in Athens Tuesday night that he would fly to Moscow to negotiate an arms deal with the Soviet Union.

Turkish Premier Ismet Inonu warned that his country would act again if the Greek Cypriots renew attacks in Turkish Cypriots. The new warning came in a message to heads of government released by Turkey's U.N. delegation in New York.

Baruch Sees Big Future At Age 94

NEW YORK (AP) — Bernard Baruch turned a spry 94 today with an off-handed vow to continue the kind of thinking that brought him fame and fortune and had presidents asking his advice.

"I don't want to dwell on the past," Baruch said at a news conference Tuesday. "Today and tomorrow concern me more than yesterday."

The financier, who had earned a fortune by his 30th birthday, added: "It seems to me that our country's problems, domestic and foreign, are today more complex and difficult than any we have known in the past."

"Yet, despite these problems and perils, the future holds out infinite possibilities and promises for the perfection of democracy and for the improvement of life, not only in this country but in every land."

Standing erect and supported lightly by a cane as he walked in and out of a midtown hotel suite for his news conference, the 6-foot-3 Baruch looked many years younger than his 94.

Asked what was the greatest lesson he had learned, Baruch smiled and quipped: "To mind my own business."

White House press secretary George Reedy declined to say why Johnson ordered the financial study and its release.

However, in the 1952 presidential campaign, Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, made public a rundown on his financial position. A like statement was issued later by his opponent, Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Financial figures for Sen. Barry Goldwater, the 1964 Republican presidential nominee, were given out Aug. 13 by the Valley National Bank of Phoenix, Ariz., which administers the Goldwater trust accounts.

The holdings of Goldwater and his wife were shown as totaling $1.7 million as of June 30, largely in stocks.

Auditors of the Johnson account also reported:

—Gifts by the family to religious, charitable and educational organizations from 1954 through last month totaled $178,578, including $164,350 donated to the Johnson City (Tex.) Foundation, a charitable organization created in 1956 by the President and Mrs. Johnson.

—During the 1954-64 period, total realized income and gains by the family were put at $1,844,944. Nearly $850,000 of this amount was received from the Texas Broadcasting Corp., which operates radio and television stations.

—Family expenses including living costs, travel and entertainment for the 10 years was put at $587,515.

—Federal income tax payments from 1954 through last July 31 totaled $365,955.

Judge Ammer ...

were fully aware of the plan for property assessments to get money for building the dams and flood wall. "These same protestors favored the plans and supported them," he said.

Judge Ammer criticized Columbus Mayor Sensenbrenner's present views on the SCD program since the appraisal and assessments were released a few weeks ago.

HE SAID there is no denying the need for the projects. But the opposition feels that the dams should be built by the Army Corps of Engineers — free.

"Amazing is the fact that such an idea comes from the head of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce when chambers generally oppose increased Federal Government spending and realize the tax increases brought about by pork barrel giveaways," the judge asserted.

Ammer's belief is that the prospects of obtaining federal funds to build the two dams and flood wall are dim. He said residents of this area should look at the reality of the situation.

Basing his opinion on the funds appropriated in 1938 by Congress for the Deer Creek and Darby dams, he believes it would be 10 to 20 years before money could be allocated for the Alum and Mill Creek dams.

It is his personal opinion that the so-called "pork barrel appropriations" are generally dominated by the heavy-populated East and West coast states and the South where congressional committees are headed by senators and representatives of those areas.

He said this policy has been true for at least 100 years and there is no prospect of change to get large appropriations "regardless of what party is in power."

THE JUDGE listed two alternatives for the people of the five-county area: 1. Have the conservancy district build the dams by means of property assessments; or 2. Forget flood control entirely and hope there will be no floods.

If Judge Ammer's motion to dissolve the district, which he claims he will make, is met with the approval of at least two other judges the $950,000 note against the SCD held by Columbus will have to be paid.

The district has only $300,000 left in its treasury, therefore a levy as proposed by law not to exceed 0.30 of a mill on all property in the district will have to be made to make up the balance of the note held by the City of Columbus.

In conclusion, Judge Ammer said: "Since the Army Engineers' efforts for this area have been lacking — judging from past records — let us pray to God to spare the area of a flood. We will be in no way prepared to cope with such a catastrophe."

This is to occur above Sumatra. Then ground monitors, commanding small payload jets by radio, plan to guide Syncom 3 delicately for more than 10 days to the desired mid-Pacific position. The jets are to arrest it there.

The payload's final target area is a point 22,300 miles above the intersection of the Equator and the International Date Line. It would appear to hover motionless there because it would be traveling at a speed matching that of the earth's rotation below.

Racism Seen Only Hope For Barry

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — Sam Lubell, political poll-taker and columnist, lectured to Antioch College students here Tuesday night and called the current political situation "the strangest presidential election in modern times."

He did say that on the basis of his current incomplete survey of some eastern and midwestern states that he believed Republican Barry Goldwater's only chance for election to the presidency would be because of the race issue.

He stressed the uncertainties of the "switch vote" appearing in his preliminary survey, and said because his survey thus far does not include nationwide sampling, he would not make a prediction as to the outcome of the November election.

He said that Goldwater is capturing about one out of seven of the voters who supported the late President John F. Kennedy in 1960, and losing one out of every five who voted for former Vice President Richard Nixon.

Goldwater, Lubell said, is gaining Democratic support because of anti-Negro sentiment, and losing some Republican support because he makes some Republicans "nervous."

Lubell noted that in his preliminary survey he found that in Ohio, President Johnson is running stronger than did the late President Kennedy, who lost Ohio to Nixon in 1960.

It's a total escape from workaday chores and it's easy to arrange. Take your own equipment, or rent it there. Even excursion tours are available, complete with guides who know the sea-floor as well as you know the main street of your own home town.

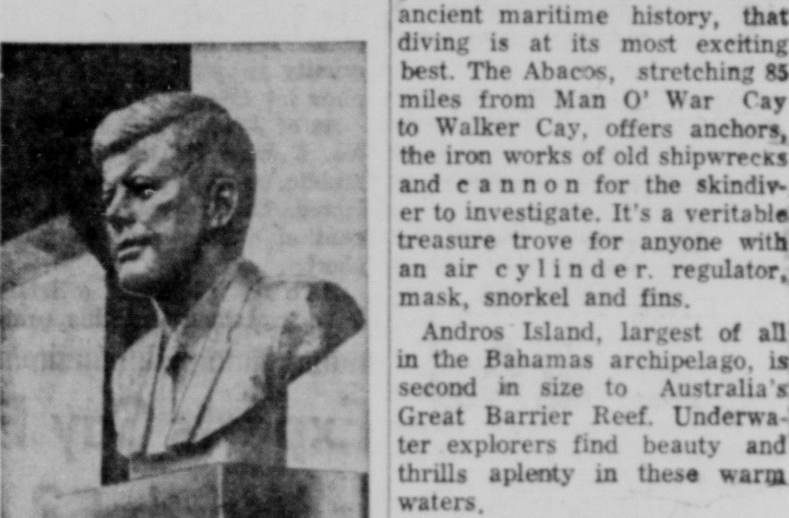

DUBLOONS? You may find some, lost from wrecked galleons of yore. Ancient cannon and wreck of the freighter Mahoney, sunk off New Providence Island 47 years ago, may be explored.

The tall assembly of a World War II bomber is also offshore the same island, and there's an LST submerged off Athol Island. Reefs, reef fish, sea fish, sea fans and coral gardens — each is an attraction.

And two-man submarines are available for rent to those who wish to explore deeper than is possible with diving gear.

But it's along the island complex known as Abaco with its ancient maritime history, that diving is at its most exciting best. The Abacos, stretching 85 miles from Man O' War Cay to Walker Cay, offers anchors, the iron works of old shipwrecks and a cannon for the skindiver to investigate. It's a veritable treasure trove for anyone with an air cylinder, regulator, mask, snorkel and fins.

Andros Island, largest of all in the Bahamas archipelago, is second in size to Australia's Great Barrier Reef. Underwater explorers find beauty and thrills aplenty in these warm waters.

Johnson Says: 'We Demand Respect for Law'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saying it is time to speak frankly on racial troubles, President Johnson has declared the nation's fate will not be decided "by street rioters and night raiders."

"We demand — and we are going to have — respect for law and order in this land," Johnson said Tuesday in addressing members of the Citizens Committee for Community Relations that will help implement the new Civil Rights Act.

Using the occasion to lecture the country on the racial issue, Johnson spoke sharply about speculation on the effects of the "white backlash" in the forthcoming election.

He said it is time to "cease this cynical guessing of who will be helped — who will be hurt — by disorders and disobedience and disrespect for the decency of our society."

"All will be hurt — none will be helped — if responsible citizens sit on the sidelines regarding the stability of our society as a spectator sport."

The question facing the nation, he said, is not how whites or Negroes will vote in November, "the question is how we shall work together and succeed together for the next hundred Novembers to come."

Americans, he said, can master the racial problem "or we can leave it to master us" and the question all citizens must ask themselves is "are we prepared to give up our prosperity and peace and let our prejudices make paupers of us all?"

"Are we of this generation to be remembered for allowing America's progress to run aground on the shoals of race?"

A nation of courage, compassion and common sense, Johnson added, "must not and will not allow its greatness to be degraded by those who work only for its division."

The President returned to the subject of racial problems later in the day when he spoke to some 90 U.S. marshals, in town for a conference, gathered on the White House lawn.

He reminded the marshals "that lawlessness is found in many places and many forms" and added: "sophisticated syndicates which systematically evade the law are no more tolerable to a law-abiding society than spontaneous street demonstrations which degenerate into disregard for the law."

City Councilman Questions Operation of Law Library

Operation of the Pickaway County Law Library came under question last night by City Councilman Robert Hedges.

Hedges based his complaint on the lack of a detailed report, required by state statute, showing expenditures of the law library. He claimed he would like to know where the money goes, especially the approximate $10,000 he asserted the city and local Municipal Court disbursed to the operation last year.

Emmitt L. Crist, treasurer for the Law Library, today said a detailed expenditure report was not filed this year. He said this procedure was followed mainly because the library currently is operating under a deficit.

Crist said the debt in part could be attributed to the city's failure to contribute to the library the past several years as required by law. The legal establishment's sources of income are the City of Circleville, Municipal Court and smaller amounts from the county.

HEDGES, referring to the proper statute, said any excess money at the end of the year must be returned proportionately to the submitting agencies. He said these amounts could be determined by the detailed financial report at the end of the year.

Crist commented that it seemed unnecessary to file the report since the Law Library presently carries a deficit, meaning no refunds are available. However, he said a report will be filed.

The local attorney also noted the Law Library Trustees may follow the alternative of filing a suit to collect money due from the city that has not been disbursed. He said a balance probably would exist if this money is collected.

Crist said he believed the "no report" procedure was the best step to follow since no balance existed in the fund. But he indicated the questions raised in Council might require additional action.

Turks Await Lifting of Blockade

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Turkish Cypriots waited with skepticism today for President Makarios to fulfill his promise to allow food, fuel and medicine to enter blockaded Turkish Cypriot areas.

A Turkish Cypriot spokesman welcomed the pledge as "an encouraging first step." But he accused Makarios, a Greek Cypriot, of breaking agreements before and said, "Therefore, we will have to wait and see."

Makarios' pledge to the U.N. Command Tuesday to allow movements into some beleaguered communities could eliminate a source of trouble, but other developments indicated the Cyprus crisis could come to a boil again.

After another round of talks with Greek leaders, Cyprus Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou disclosed in Athens Tuesday night that he would fly to Moscow to negotiate an arms deal with the Soviet Union.

Turkish Premier Ismet Inonu warned that his country would act again if the Greek Cypriots renew attacks in Turkish Cypriots. The new warning came in a message to heads of government released by Turkey's U.N. delegation in New York.

Baruch Sees Big Future At Age 94

NEW YORK (AP) — Bernard Baruch turned a spry 94 today with an off-handed vow to continue the kind of thinking that brought him fame and fortune and had presidents asking his advice.

"I don't want to dwell on the past," Baruch said at a news conference Tuesday. "Today and tomorrow concern me more than yesterday."

The financier, who had earned a fortune by his 30th birthday, added: "It seems to me that our country's problems, domestic and foreign, are today more complex and difficult than any we have known in the past."

"Yet, despite these problems and perils, the future holds out infinite possibilities and promises for the perfection of democracy and for the improvement of life, not only in this country but in every land."

Standing erect and supported lightly by a cane as he walked in and out of a midtown hotel suite for his news conference, the 6-foot-3 Baruch looked many years younger than his 94.

Asked what was the greatest lesson he had learned, Baruch smiled and quipped: "To mind my own business."

White House press secretary George Reedy declined to say why Johnson ordered the financial study and its release.

However, in the 1952 presidential campaign, Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, made public a rundown on his financial position. A like statement was issued later by his opponent, Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Financial figures for Sen. Barry Goldwater, the 1964 Republican presidential nominee, were given out Aug. 13 by the Valley National Bank of Phoenix, Ariz., which administers the Goldwater trust accounts.

The holdings of Goldwater and his wife were shown as totaling $1.7 million as of June 30, largely in stocks.

Auditors of the Johnson account also reported:

—Gifts by the family to religious, charitable and educational organizations from 1954 through last month totaled $178,578, including $164,350 donated to the Johnson City (Tex.) Foundation, a charitable organization created in 1956 by the President and Mrs. Johnson.

—During the 1954-64 period, total realized income and gains by the family were put at $1,844,944. Nearly $850,000 of this amount was received from the Texas Broadcasting Corp., which operates radio and television stations.

—Family expenses including living costs, travel and entertainment for the 10 years was put at $587,515.

—Federal income tax payments from 1954 through last July 31 totaled $363,955.

Judge Ammer ...

were fully aware of the plan for property assessments to get money for building the dams and flood wall. "These same protestors favored the plans and supported them," he said.

Judge Ammer criticized Columbus Mayor Sensenbrenner's present views on the SCD program since the appraisal and assessments were released a few weeks ago.

HE SAID there is no denying the need for the projects. But the opposition feels that the dams should be built by the Army Corps of Engineers — free.

"Amazing is the fact that such an idea comes from the head of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce when chambers generally oppose increased Federal Government spending and realize the tax increases brought about by pork barrel giveaways," the judge asserted.

Ammer's belief is that the prospects of obtaining federal funds to build the two dams and flood wall are dim. He said residents of this area should look at the reality of the situation.

Basing his opinion on the funds appropriated in 1938 by Congress for the Deer Creek and Darby dams, he believes it would be 10 to 20 years before money could be allocated for the Alum and Mill Creek dams.

It is his personal opinion that the so-called "pork barrel appropriations" are generally dominated by the heavy-populated East and West coast states and the South where congressional committees are headed by senators and representatives of those areas.

He said this policy has been true for at least 100 years and there is no prospect of change to get large appropriations "regardless of what party is in power."

THE JUDGE listed two alternatives for the people of the five-county area: 1. Have the conservancy district build the dams by means of property assessments; or 2. Forget flood control entirely and hope there will be no floods.

If Judge Ammer's motion to dissolve the district, which he claims he will make, is met with the approval of at least two other judges the $950,000 note against the SCD held by Columbus will have to be paid.

The district has only $300,000 left in its treasury, therefore a levy as proposed by law not to exceed 0.30 of a mill on all property in the district will have to be made to make up the balance of the note held by the City of Columbus.

In conclusion, Judge Ammer said: "Since the Army Engineers' efforts for this area have been lacking — judging from past records — let us pray to God to spare the area of a flood. We will be in no way prepared to cope with such a catastrophe."

Tractor Fire Fatal To Cincy Area Man

CINCINNATI (AP) — William J. Rohlfis Sr., 41, died a fiery death Tuesday when a tractor upset on a hill behind his home in suburban Reading and spilling gasoline caught fire. William J. Rohlfis Jr. told police he was unable to pull his father from under the vehicle before it burst into flames. Rohlfis raised cattle and turkeys part time, relatives said.

Masked Divers Are Roaming Underwater World of Today

Diving enables one to visit the incredibly beautiful and colorful world of marine life among the coral.

Pakistan Wavers

Pakistan is a medium-sized country, as Asian nations go, with a population about half that of the United States. It has just begun, within the last year, to show signs of economic growth, after a history of poverty and depression.

It is not a strong nation, militarily or economically, but it is attracting more attention from world capitals than any other Asian state — with the possible exception of Viet Nam.

The reason is that Pakistan is becoming increasingly disenchanted with United States foreign policy, especially as it relates to India, and is steadily cementing relations with Red China, although the government of Field Marshal Mohammed Ayub Khan insists Pakistan is not about to go behind the bamboo curtain.

Formerly the United States' staunchest ally on the Asian mainland, Pakistan began reevaluating her U.S. ties in 1962, when the Chinese invasion of India brought massive contributions of military aid for the first time to New Delhi. Pakistan and India are engaged in a 17-year-old feud over ownership of the rich province of Kashmir, a predominantly Moslem state now controlled by Hindu India. Pakistan is a Moslem country.

Pakistani officials fear that, given sufficient military equipment, India would carry her differences with Pakistan to invasion. Continuing U. S. military aid, they contend, provides the material stocks needed for such an attack.

The trend of history has placed Pakistan in position to exact stiff penalties from U. S. prestige in Asia, if President Khan chooses to do so. Pakistan is one of the few members of both SEATO and CENTO mutual defense systems. Both organizations already are loose at the seams. Withdrawal of Pakistan from either or both would doom what ever solidarity remains in the Western defense of Asia.

Perhaps the paper collapse of SEATO and CENTO is worse than the consequences of physical disintegration of either organization. Members of both alliances have been notable for their lack of commitment to the side of the United States in its troubles in Viet Nam.

The tragedy of Pakistan is not that its disenchantment with the United States might bring the collapse of a couple of paper tiger defense organizations, but that the U. S. is rapidly losing a friend by siding with a nonaligned neutral. This is not the best route to freedom in Asia.

Barbary Apes Calm

The Rock of Gibraltar is having a hot time of it these days and the discomfort has nothing to do with the weather.

The Spaniards are making a clamor to have the rock returned to them. They compare the border control points to the Berlin wall, though the Spaniards operate it themselves and search their 11,000 countrymen who pass every day on their way to work in Gibraltar.

Spanish revenue cutters are chasing yachts, submarines and speed boats engaged in the grand old Mediterranean game of smuggling. The Spaniards blame the British for much of the smuggling and for all the embarrassment they feel at not owning this tip of land at the southern end of their country.

Over all this ill feeling and confusion lies the sun which daily is setting new temperature records.

Some British authorities contend a change is almost bound to come for Gibraltar before long, but all is probably well because the Barbary apes are showing no consternation at all.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

CHARLES E. SILBERMAN, of Fortune, recalls the old vaudeville story about a passenger in a dining car who raised such a hullabaloo because there was no French pastry on the menu that, at the next station, the train was halted while a waiter dashed off to a bakery and returned, panting, with a platter bearing an elegant assortment. The passenger stared intently at the pastry for a moment, then waved the waiter away, saying, "I'd rather be angry!"

I am indebted to Rev. Charles Nober, of Syracuse University, for this wonderful definition of a baby: an alimentary canal with a big noise at one end and no sense of responsibility at the other.

A heartwarming story, via Cleveland Amory, concerns the ten-year-old boy in the Midwest who read with consternation of the Alaska earthquake, and promptly sent Mrs. William Egan, wife of Alaska's governor, two nickels—his allowance for that week. "If you need any more," he wrote Mrs. Egan, "please let me know."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

My daughter is always getting black and blue marks which turn red and yellow as time goes on. She has also been running a constant fever. What can you tell me about this? We are very worried.

Mrs. F. P. L., North Dakota
Dear Mrs. L.: The most important thing you can be told is that your daughter should have been examined by a physician a long time ago. It is almost inconceivable that you should completely neglect a problem that has concerned you for so long.

The exact cause of such a condition can only be determined by direct physical examination and complete studies of the blood.

A black and blue mark is an evidence of some kind of hemorrhage beneath the skin. There are many different causes of such hemorrhages. In most instances black and blue marks are of no major medical significance. They commonly result from simple bruises or other minor injuries. But when these marks consistently appear with no apparent cause, they should be investigated.

The fact that your daughter has been running a constant fever emphasizes the urgent need for a thorough study of her condition.

The Business World

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Business still tends to shrug off this year's political campaigning as unlikely to brake the momentum of the economic upswing.

Growing involvement of government in business affairs at all levels makes any political campaign strike close to home nonetheless. And this year's campaign seems more confusing at the moment and more likely to grow bitter than any for some time past.

But even so, the political campaign so far is showing no signs of upsetting business confidence or changing business plans for expansion and increased production schedules.

For one thing, for many years now the leading parties have been markedly divided. Both Republican and Democratic members of Congress have been considered friends of business, while others of each party have been classed as troublesome or doubtful at the best.

The split in both parties is deeper this year, and more confusing. And so is the split in the loyalties of businessmen themselves.

At the ballot boxes in November there seems likely to be more crossing over from traditional lines than for many a year. A number of business leaders who have always voted Republican say they favor the Democrats this year. Many staunch Democrats may be voting Republican.

In both cases there will be other considerations than the interests of business itself that will affect their decisions.

But those more or less on the sidelines of the fierce political battle know that in most presidential election years the course of the economy already has been set. And the campaign — even its outcome — has had little visible effect on that course.

The stock market often reacts sharply — but usually for a short period only — to campaign surprises and election results. The course it was taking, or seemed likely to take in the future, has varied only slightly because of political battles, over the long run.

All this is probably one reason so many business firms this spring and summer have announced plans for increased spending for new plants or improvements. The ability of the economy to surmount political oratory also is back of the predictions by many top business executives that they see good times extending well into next year.

Discomforts of Choice

By John Chamberlain

Joseph Freeman, a writer who quit the Communists in the Nineteen Thirties because he couldn't stomach their double standard of justice, once took his perplexities to J. B. S. Hardman, a labor dignitary who was something of a philosopher. "Aha," said Mr. Hardman, "so you have a choice. Then you are not free."

This feeling of having a real choice in the coming presidential election is evidently giving many voters, particularly in the North-east, a feeling of being trapped. Like the unicorn of Anne Lindbergh's poem, they long for the freedom of captivity. It's all very paradoxical, but John Lupton, who has just been appointed to serve as director of the Connecticut Republican State Campaign Policy Committee, thinks it is quite in accordance with recent history.

A year ago Mr. Lupton organized the Connecticut Republican Citizens' Committee, with the idea of carrying the Republican cause into the Democratic wards of big Connecticut cities. Connecticut has not been a Goldwater state, and now that Mr. Lupton is selling Goldwater, who is the antithesis of a "me-too" candidate, as the symbol of Republicanism he sometimes encounters people who feel like Joseph Freeman. They have a choice, and consequently they do not feel free.

"Voters," says Mr. Lupton in explanation, "have gotten used to the idea that there is no real difference between parties. They have become accustomed to making their choice on personality traits, not on ideas." The strange sensation of having actually to choose between distinct philosophies of government has, in Mr. Lupton's opinion, caused people to go into the silences. They feel exposed when they are asked to express themselves on basic issues. So they are non-committal, or they mask their feelings by not telling the truth.

This could explain a lot about the misfiring of the public opinion polls. A Hungarian friend of mine with years of experience in European underground movements is convinced that people in this country are no longer candid with pollsters. Questioning about truly delicate issues produces an inner turbulence, and equivocation follows as a purely self-protective matter. So we have what my Hungarian friend calls a "liars' bloc."

Behind the phenomenon that Mr. Lupton and the Hungarian veteran of the underground have noticed there is a deeper malaise explored by Professor David Riesman, the bellwether of the modern sociologists. Riesman has claimed that nobody is so lonesome as a man in a crowd. You can't be confidential with a mass; and you can't argue with a mass, either, unless you happen to be gifted as a demagogue. With the opportunity for true expression bottled up, people who are huddled together in cities and suburbs get into the habit of waiting for somebody else to give them the signal. They become, in Professor Riesman's language, "other-directed," not "inner-directed."

The Riesman analysis is, to a certain extent, unarguable. But it can be overdone. The human animal is incalculable, and in every single individual, no matter how "other-directed" he may have become out of habit, there are seeds of revolt and revolt.

This election year could see many strange things happening as "other-directed" voters on both sides suddenly decide to listen to their own inner promptings. The fact that people aren't talking may mask an inner discomfort. But there is nothing like discomfort to provoke thought, and the act of thinking must lead to a decision.

Furthermore, if the public opinion polls have become untrustworthy, this could mean that people are more and more coming to behave as extreme individualists. By misleading the pollsters, they could be casting a vote for the sanctity of personal privacy. And the person who insists on privacy is already ceasing to be "other-directed."

The revolt against "other-directedness" has had some strange issues in the arts, which are always indicative of what is happening in society.

The other night, at the annual American Dance Festival at New London, Connecticut, I watched Paul Taylor's company dance an avant garde work called "Scudorama." The dance opened with a group of slithering creatures moving like so many crabs across an ocean floor. The meaning was clarified by a program note from Dante:

"What souls are these who run through this black haze?" And he to me: "These are the nearly soulless. Whose lives concluded neither blame nor praise."

A protest against lukewarmness? Yes, indeed. And it could become nationwide in November

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

A meeting for all Circleville school system bus drivers was scheduled in the high school building.

The Rev. Henry E. Giese was installed as the new pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Route 2, Ashville.

Plans were under way for the annual Bandmothers Preview to be held at the CHS football field.

TEN YEARS AGO

Lewis Cook Jr., a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences at Ohio University, was awarded membership on the Dean's List.

Miss Patricia Shellhammer became the bride of Mr. Dudley Morris in Trinity Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Bert C. Shimp and daughter of Huntington, W. Va., were visiting her mother, Mrs. Harley B. Colwell, N. Court St.

SEVERAL BOYS AGO
No. 158 were practicing daily at the Cliftona Pool in preparation for the junior AAU swimming meet to be held in Columbus.

A 45-day season for duck hunting was scheduled to open Oct. 22.

Three local men were selected by members of Congo Tribe No. 51 Improved Order of Redmen, to attend a zone meeting at Tucson, Ariz.

Ohioans Use More State Library Books

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More books can be found on the shelves of Ohio's tax-supported libraries than ever before, and record use is being made of them, state library officials say.

The annual report on public libraries, covering the 1963 calendar year, should be ready in the next month, acting state librarian Ruth Hess says.

Among other things, it will show that the total of tax-supported libraries in Ohio remains the same—265. It hasn't changed since 1959.

But the number of books available (or at least by getting on a waiting list) at those libraries has reached an all-time high of 21,077,400. This compares with 8,806,001 volumes 25 years ago.

Nor, says library consultant Faith B. Stoughton who compiled the report, are most of these millions of books just gathering dust.

Circulation in the past year reached a record 71,474,051—an average of better than three take-outs per book. A quarter-century ago, circulation totaled 40,196,041.

Ohio Idle Pay Claims Show Decline in Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reports a decline from the previous week in both new and continuing claims for the week ended Aug. 15. Eight thousand new claims were reported last week, according to the BUC, compared to 9,509 reported in the week ended Aug. 8.

Dear Abby: Actions Not Commendable!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: An extremely attractive woman and I have been seeing each other exclusively for the past year. I am in my early 40's and she is in her early 30's. She has recently begun to pressure me for a marriage date. She told me that she is a widow, but I learned quite accidentally that she has had three husbands. Her first she divorced, her second died, and her third she also divorced. When I confronted her with these facts, she readily admitted they were true. When I asked her why she didn't volunteer the truth about herself in the first place, she said that she had been "counseled" not to. What kind of a "counselor" would advise a woman to withhold such pertinent information from the man she intended to marry?

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: One without integrity, obviously. But it's the WOMAN you are interested in, not the counselor. And any woman who would accept the counsel of deception is no better than her counselor. What else do you want to know?

DEAR ABBY: I have a 14-year-old daughter who rushes outside when she hears someone honk a horn. I tell her it is not right, that if a boy wants to see her, he should come to the door. She says I am old-fashioned, and that if she had a date with a boy then she would expect him to come to the door. But if he just happens to be driving by and wants to see if she's home, there is nothing wrong with honking his horn. All this horn honking and her running outside is getting to be too much for me. Maybe if you told her, Abby, she would listen. Or am I old-fashioned?

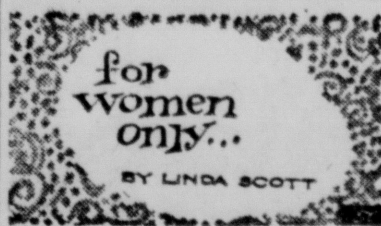

GIVE UP
DEAR GIVE: You are not old-fashioned. A boy who respects a girl will not "honk" his horn outside her home. And any girl who runs outside at the sound of a "honk" is a silly goose.

DEAR ABBY: So many of our friends and relatives have been dying off lately, my husband and I decided to go over our wills. They originally stated that our estates would be divided among our children, and they would all share and share alike. We have changed them. Our eldest daughter has given us more attention and respect than any of the others. We also have a son who has never gone out of his way to show us any consideration. They will all get what we think they deserve. Nuts to this share and share alike business.

MATER AND PATER
CONFIDENTIAL TO DANNY: "If you cannot inspire a woman with love of yourself, fill her above the brim with love of herself; all that runs over will be yours." These are the words of C. C. COLTON, an English clergyman (1780-1832), and times have not changed very much.

Don't discard those empty spice or baking candy shaker jars! Fill one with corn starch and then sprinkle the contents on the babies in hot weather. The empties are especially handy and convenient for sugaring the baby's cooked and dry cereals, berries and other fruits and foods. You can fill a third empty saker with flour to sprinkle on meats and to flour cake pans.

Did you know that you can soften hardened glue by adding a few drops of vinegar to the container?

If your heavily starched laundry sticks to the clothes line, put a piece of waxed paper over the line before hanging up the clothes.

A piece of white chalk kept with your fine silver will slow the tarnishing. When the chalk yellows, just replace it with a fresh piece.

When baking a cake that calls for melted shortening, melt it in the cake pan you will use. Result — your pan is greased! And you save washing an extra pan.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rock 'im and sock 'im and belt 'im every chance we get.

This clearly seems the Johnson administration's policy against Sen. Barry Goldwater in the presidential campaign which, before it even starts, promises to be the roughest, toughest in memory.

Goldwater didn't spare President Johnson's feelings when he called him a "phony." Johnson and some of his top aides have already set the pattern of not sparing Goldwater's.

One prime example: this week's performance by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara at the Democrats' hearings on the platform they are trying to stitch together.

Another example: Johnson's blazing attack on Goldwater, one of the first personal assaults he has made since becoming president.

Last week Goldwater criticized this country's defense program: "Under our present leadership, with its utter disregard for new weapons, our deliverable nuclear capacity may be cut down by 90 per cent in the next decade."

"The Defense Department promptly fired back that this statement of the Republican presidential candidate was 'without foundation,' was 'contrary to the facts' and was 'totally false.'"

McNamara followed this up in his personal appearance before the platform committee. "Let me assure you that our strategic forces are and will remain in the 1960s and 1970s sufficient to insure the destruction of both the Soviet Union and Communist China under the worst imaginable circumstances accompanying the outbreak of war," McNamara said.

"There should be no doubt about this in the mind of any American. There is none in the minds of our enemies."

Then he unloaded a mountain of statistics to show this country not only is superior to the Communist world in weaponry — and will continue so — but that it is prepared for any kind of war, big or little.

He called American defenses an "aggregation of force without parallel in human history."

All this will probably not discourage Goldwater from future criticisms. But, judging from the speed and magnitude of McNamara's response, plus that of Johnson himself, the administration apparently is set to smash into Goldwater from now on.

Last week Goldwater told a news conference that in dealing with the Southeast Asia crisis Johnson seemed to give military commanders authority to use the "whole inventory" of American weapons. The "whole inventory," of course, would have to include nuclear weapons.

Johnson himself, in telling the nation Aug. 4 that he had authorized American carrier-based planes to hit North Viet Nam PT boat centers, explained he had ordered only "limited action."

The next day McNamara told a news conference that the naval commanders of U.S. ships off North Viet Nam had been instructed to protect themselves with "whatever force is necessary."

The State Department in the name of McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk issued a statement calling Goldwater's interpretation of Johnson's remarks "unjustified and irresponsible."

Last Saturday at his own news conference Johnson said of Goldwater's interpretation:

"Loose charges on nuclear weapons without any shadow of justification by any candidate for office, let alone the presidency, are a disservice to our national security, a disservice to peace, and, as for that matter a great disservice to the entire free world."

And the campaign hasn't even started.

Cereal Leaf Beetle Seen Near Control

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Agriculture Director John Stackhouse said today "the cereal leaf beetle invasion in Ohio is no worse today than it was early this summer," thanks to cooperative regulation efforts and joint research on its control by Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and the federal government.

Stackhouse said there have been no indications of any build-ups recently and added "there aren't enough of the beetles at the present time to cause serious economic damage."

The quarter-inch long beetles have been the object of an intensive war by agriculture officials in three states since their discovery in recent years. If not controlled or wiped out, they could inflict serious damage on crops, mainly hay, straw and other cereal leaves.

Stackhouse said the regulated quarantine remains in effect in all or part of 19 northwest Ohio counties. The rest of the state also is under quarantine, but is not being regulated.

In the regulated counties, Stackhouse reported there have been only four violations involving persons trying to move crops or farm machinery out without having them fumigated or otherwise treated against the beetle.

Checking stations have been set up in cooperation with the Ohio Highway Patrol's truck weigh stations. So far, he said, 137 pieces of farm machinery or crop loads have been checked at the weigh stations.

In addition, constant checks are made at grain elevators and other places where crops would be shipped out of the regulated areas. Nine fumigation centers are operating in the regulated area to take care of any untreated crops.

Meanwhile, extensive research continues at Michigan State University, Purdue University and the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station at Wooster to determine how to eradicate the bug.

Each has been working on a different aspect of the problem, Stackhouse said, with the directors of the three states and officials of the U.S. Department of Agriculture working to coordinate the information.

Utility Wires Cause Air Mishaps

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Telephone and power wires and poles played a part in a third of the 18 civilian aircraft accidents in Ohio during the past month, the Highway Patrol says.

One person was killed and nine injured in July accidents, patrol investigators said, and there were no military mishaps. The pilot who was killed failed to pull out of a dive.

Fliers who hit wires or a pole were attempting to land, practicing approaches or crop-dusting, the patrol said, and one was in a glider.

The patrol investigates all aircraft mishaps that occur in Ohio, except on government reservations.

COOL MAN, COOL—Race driver John Kirby gets into a cooling undergarment being developed for the Project Apollo Moon landing program to give it a whirl under race conditions at Austin, Tex. Getting out of his racer afterward, he said it "was cool." Around him are Baylor University College of Medicine personnel.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rock 'im and sock 'im and belt 'im every chance we get.

This clearly seems the Johnson administration's policy against Sen. Barry Goldwater in the presidential campaign which, before it even starts, promises to be the roughest, toughest in memory.

Goldwater didn't spare President Johnson's feelings when he called him a "phony." Johnson and some of his top aides have already set the pattern of not sparing Goldwater's.

One prime example: this week's performance by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara at the Democrats' hearings on the platform they are trying to stitch together.

Another example: Johnson's blazing attack on Goldwater, one of the first personal assaults

he has made since becoming president.

Last week Goldwater criticized this country's defense program: "Under our present leadership, with its utter disregard for new weapons, our deliverable nuclear capacity may be cut down by 90 per cent in the next decade."

"The Defense Department promptly fired back that this statement of the Republican presidential candidate was 'without foundation,' was 'contrary to the facts' and was 'totally false.'"

McNamara followed this up in his personal appearance before the platform committee.

"Let me assure you that our strategic forces are and will remain in the 1960s and 1970s sufficient to insure the destruction of both the Soviet Union and Communist China under the worst imaginable circumstances accompanying the outbreak of war," McNamara said.

"There should be no doubt about this in the mind of any American. There is none in the minds of our enemies."

Then he unloaded a mountain of statistics to show this country not only is superior to the Communist world in weaponry — and will continue so — but that it is prepared for any kind of war, big or little.

He called American defenses an "aggregation of force without parallel in human history."

All this will probably not discourage Goldwater from future criticisms. But, judging from the speed and magnitude of McNamara's response, plus that of Johnson himself, the administration apparently is set to smash into Goldwater from now on.

Last week Goldwater told a news conference that in dealing with the Southeast Asia crisis Johnson seemed to give military commanders authority to use the "whole inventory" of American weapons. The "whole inventory," of course, would have to include nuclear weapons.

Johnson himself, in telling the nation Aug. 4 that he had authorized American carrier-based planes to hit North Viet Nam PT boat centers, explained he had ordered only "limited action."

The next day McNamara told a news conference that the naval commanders of U.S. ships off North Viet Nam had been instructed to protect themselves with "whatever force is necessary."

The State Department in the name of McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk issued a statement calling Goldwater's interpretation of Johnson's remarks "unjustified and irresponsible."

Last Saturday at his own news conference Johnson said of Goldwater's interpretation:

"Loose charges on nuclear weapons without any shadow of justification by any candidate for office, let alone the presidency, are a disservice to our national security, a disservice to peace, and, as for that matter a great disservice to the entire free world."

And the campaign hasn't even started.

Cereal Leaf Beetle Seen Near Control

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Agriculture Director John Stackhouse said today "the cereal leaf beetle invasion in Ohio is no worse today than it was early this summer," thanks to cooperative regulation efforts and joint research on its control by Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and the federal government.

Stackhouse said there have been no indications of any build-ups recently and added "there aren't enough of the beetles at the present time to cause serious economic damage."

The quarter-inch long beetles have been the object of an intensive war by agriculture officials in three states since their discovery in recent years. If not controlled or wiped out, they could inflict serious damage on crops, mainly hay, straw and other cereal leaves.

Stackhouse said the regulated quarantine remains in effect in all or part of 19 northwest Ohio counties. The rest of the state also is under quarantine, but is not being regulated.

In the regulated counties, Stackhouse reported there have been only four violations involving persons trying to move crops or farm machinery out without having them fumigated or otherwise treated against the beetle.

Checking stations have been set up in cooperation with the Ohio Highway Patrol's truck weigh stations. So far, he said, 137 pieces of farm machinery or crop loads have been checked at the weigh stations.

In addition, constant checks are made at grain elevators and other places where crops would be shipped out of the regulated areas. Nine fumigation centers are operating in the regulated area to take care of any untreated crops.

Meanwhile, extensive research continues at Michigan State University, Purdue University and the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station at Wooster to determine how to eradicate the bug.

Each has been working on a different aspect of the problem, Stackhouse said, with the directors of the three states and officials of the U.S. Department of Agriculture working to coordinate the information.

Utility Wires Cause Air Mishaps

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Telephone and power wires and poles played a part in a third of the 18 civilian aircraft accidents in Ohio during the past month, the Highway Patrol says.

One person was killed and nine injured in July accidents, patrol investigators said, and there were no military mishaps. The pilot who was killed failed to pull out of a dive.

Fliers who hit wires or a pole were attempting to land, practicing approaches or crop-dusting, the patrol said, and one was in a glider.

The patrol investigates all aircraft mishaps that occur in Ohio, except on government reservations.

Ex-Hollywood Publicist Is Beatles Producer Now

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This is the week that the Beatles consolidated their invasion of the United States. Aside from several million teen-type girls, no one could be more delighted than a former Hollywood press agent named Walter Shenson.

The shaggy Liverpudlians kick off their American concert tour in the Cow Palace of San Francisco tonight. This weekend they will arrive in Los Angeles, causing despair throughout the police force. The bigger the mob scenes, the more Shenson likes it.

Walter once was the top-notch publicist for Kim Novak, Rita Hayworth and other local figures. Then one day he disappeared and turned up in London as a producer. He had a rousing success with "The Mouse That Roared" and followed it with "A Matter of Who" and "Mouse on the Moon."

Walter returns to his native California each summer so his two young sons will not become too anglicized. As he was preparing to return to England last September, a United Artists executive asked if he would like to produce a film with the Beatles.

"Who are they?" Shenson asked in all innocence.

Walter agreed to look into the matter and he had the assurance that if the film made a profit only in England, United Artists would be satisfied. After some difficulty, he located the Beatles in London.

"They are piled into my taxi and started talking a mile a minute," Shenson recalled, found myself in the middle of a scene from a Marx brothers movie. That was when I decided to make a comedy, not a pop musical."

After observing the Beatles at work and play, Shenson and writer Alan Owen settled on the device of a day in the life of the singing sensations. "A Hard Day's Night" was shot in eight weeks at a cost of a half-million dollars, which makes it a mighty fine investment.

Business has been sensational at matinees, but the film has had some difficulty attracting scream-shy adults. Shenson has proposed a late-night showing for adults only.

Icelandic Premier Given Informal Tour by LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson took a new path in diplomacy Tuesday: round the White House grounds with the visiting prime minister of Iceland in tow along with the famous Johnson beagles and a horde of newsmen and photographers.

The prime minister, Bjarni Benediktsson, came to Washington at Johnson's invitation for an informal visit. That it was.

The two did talk privately in the President's office. But first there was one of those backyard tours.

First Lady Lauds Spirit In Far West

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, home from the West, says that she believes the age of adventure has barely begun and "bold and brave beginnings" are needed in America.

She described her tour as "a journey through American history" in the land of pioneers and said she had "caught a vision of the unfinished America," where much remains to be done to fulfill the country's capabilities.

After stopping in six states in four, fast-moving days, the First Lady summarized her trip in a statement for reporters with her on the plane returning to Washington Monday night.

She said the Western region "is full of people who are eager to join in building the great society," which Johnson has said is the goal of his administration.

She traveled 4,200 miles by plane, bus, and boats. Much of the territory is considered Republican. Nevertheless, some 20,000 persons turned out in 12 cities to see the First Lady.

She visited Indian and Mormon areas and trails the pioneers trod.

"All along the way, we found people of open minds and wide horizons, whose spirits match their mountains," she said.

Omaha Hams Helping Physicians To Help Latin American Medics

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Six-seventeen a.m., Central Standard Time, Monday.

Dick Cunningham, a petroleum engineer, slips out of his bedroom and heads for the basement of his split-level suburban Omaha home.

Closeting himself in a small room filled with short-wave radio equipment and signs labeling it station K-zero-HHP, he tunes his receiver to 14330 kilocycles and listens as he sips a cup of coffee.

One by one, other early-rising ham operators in the Western Hemisphere come on the air and check in with K4NAA, the Naval Reserve amateur radio station at Arlington, Va., which is Monday's control station on the Intercontinental Traffic Network.

At 7 a.m., Cunningham picks up his microphone.

"K4NAA this is K-zero HHP, Omaha. We are ready to make our announcement."

"Go ahead, Omaha."

"This is K-zero-HHP, Kay Zero Hotel Papa, Omaha. We have medical doctors here, specialists who will be glad to consult with any doctors in Central America or South America who wish to talk to them. Give us a call and we will help you."

"Stand by, K-zero-HHP, while Mexico City repeats your announcement in Spanish."

In Managua, Nicaragua, Andy Wiesner is waiting for this announcement.

"K-zero-HHP, this is YN1AW. I have Dr. Luis Favili here. He wants to talk to an internal medicine specialist."

"Roger, YN1AW. Let's move up 10 kc, Andy, and I will get the telephone patch made."

"Roger, up ten."

Cunningham dials an Omaha telephone and Dr. William J. Dickerson answers.

"Doctor, we have our contacts all set up with a doctor in Nicaragua who would like to talk to you."

Then Andy comes back on the air to introduce Dr. Favili to Dr. Dickerson and "Operation Hippocrates," Omaha's daily emergency medical advisory service, is under way.

Amateur radio logbooks are filled with reports of doctors who have responded to medical emergencies via radio, but originators of "Operation Hippocrates" say it represents among the first attempts to provide daily doctor-to-doctor consultation service by radio.

From 7 to 7:15 a.m. every day except Sunday an Omaha ham operator, manning a station powerful enough to reach anywhere in the Americas, stands by to handle emergency medical traffic.

So far, 10 Omaha doctors have agreed to accept these emergency calls whenever their specialties are involved. These include general surgery, obstetrics and gynecology, internal medicine, heart, dermatology, orthopedic surgery, eye, ear, nose and throat, pediatrics, and general practice.

"We have hopes of being able to call any doctor in Omaha," says Dr. Stanley Bach, the orthopedist and one of the prime movers in the project.

The idea for "Operation Hippocrates" grew out of a medical emergency in April involving a tanker five days out of Caracas with a seriously ill first mate.

Hugh Tinley, a property management executive who developed a disaster radio service for the local Red Cross chapter, intercepted the distress call and made a "phone patch" to the home of Dr. Lynn Thompson — another ham. Dr. Bach was on the air with his own radio and together the two doctors diagnosed the mate's illness and prescribed medication from the ship's well-stocked sick bay.

Dr. Bach says what followed was Tinley's idea and Tinley says it was Dr. Bach's idea. But by July, the plans were completed and ham operators began spreading the word that any doctor in Latin America could reach Omaha doctors for consultation by radio.

The most important step was enlisting the help of the Intercontinental Traffic Network, a group of amateurs concerned principally with relaying messages between the Americas. It operates daily at 14330 kilocycles.

Philip J. Craig, Hollywood, Fla., real estate man, K4CRU, lined up other net control stations including K4NAA, X1-EFFE in Mexico City, and KZ5-VR, Balboa Heights, Canal Zone, asking them to listen for calls from remote and less powerful stations.

If the Latin-American station doesn't have enough power to break into the chatter of the more powerful stations, net control does it for him.

Existence of this net was one of the principal reasons the Omahans felt their medical good neighbor gesture would work. Another reason is that many doctors in Latin America practice in remote areas where consultations are hard to come by and radio is the chief source of communication with the outside.

MINUTEMAN COSTS LESS

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force estimates it costs $100,000 annually to maintain a solid fuel Minuteman intercontinental range missile on station. This compares with an upkeep figure of $1 million a year for each of the earlier liquid-fuel, more complex Atlas and Titan ICBMs.

Ashville News Report

Mrs. John Sabine — YU 3-5731

The Ashville Band Boosters met Aug. 11 in the school auditorium with Kenneth Reigel, president, presiding. Before the business meeting was conducted the Junior Band gave a short concert.

Band Director William Pangburn explained the John Philip Sousa Award which had been presented to students in previous years. This award is to be given to a graduating high school student who plans to use his or her musical ability after high school. This award has been presented to Velma Kuhn, Harold Lockwood and Thomas Cline. The group voted to present the award and plaque to the Teays Valley High School music department for its use.

The Walnut Twp. Carnival is to be held Sept. 26 and the Ashville Band Boosters have been invited to have a booth. It was decided by those present to again have the peanut sale with a date to be announced later.

Director Pangburn gave a few highlights of the recent trip the members of the Cadette Band and parents took earlier this month to Michigan.

The Ashville and Walnut Band Booster groups will have an ice cream social Thursday at the Ashville School. Serving will start at 6:30 p. m. Ice cream, cake, pie, iced tea and coffee will be served. A free band concert will be presented by the Junior and Cadette Bands.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Reese, Katherine, Joan and Angie of South Bloomfield recently celebrated Joan's 13th birthday at Maugers Restaurant in Lancaster.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sherman, Carol and Brad and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morrison enjoyed a trip last week to Niagara Falls. They also visited Ontario, Canada, Detroit and Dearborn, Mich. While in Dearborn they toured the Henry Ford Museum.

The Everfaithful Class of the United Brethren Church will have a reception for Rev. and Mrs. Morgan Aug. 27. This will be a carry-in dinner at 6:30 p. m.

Robert Rigg of Capital University Seminary will be in charge of the services Sunday at the First English Lutheran Church. Rev. and Mrs. Drewes will be on vacation at that time.

Joan Reese, Linda Acord, Linda Noggle, Ricky Riggs and Billy Riser of the South Bloomfield Methodist Church attended the Junior MYF Camp at the Lancaster Camp Grounds last week.

Guests at the William Sherman home for a cook-out Wednesday evening were: Mr. and Mrs. Walden Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Althaus and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Sherman and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harber and family, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Sherman and family, Mr. and Mrs.

Boyd Barr, the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. William Sherman, Carol and Brad.

The Ruth Circle of the First English Lutheran Church held its annual picnic at the Ashville Park Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. George Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Don Rathburn and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bausum attended the Ohio State Firemen's Conference at the Commodore Perry Hotel in Toledo. The Firemen attended a full day of classes Friday with the Toledo Fire Department putting on a demonstration in the afternoon. That night they witnessed a parade which consisted of fire fighting equipment of years ago to the present day. Saturday night they attended a banquet and on Sunday morning the business session of the conference.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the association also held a meeting. Friday evening the women were treated to a three hour boat trip and on Saturday afternoon they attended the Cinema showing of "Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad, World."

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Cook, Patricia and Stevie are visiting this week in Washington D. C. and Virginia. While Mr. Cook is out of town Claude Ward is acting as water superintendent.

The Friendship Circle of the United Brethren Church is again sponsoring a trip to Cedar Point Saturday. Due to cancellations a few seats remain on the bus. Those interested in going may contact Richard Cook. The bus will leave Ashville at 10 a. m. and will return around 11:30 p. m.

The Teays Valley High School Band will perform Thursday at the South-Central Rural Electric annual meeting. This is to be held at the Fairfield County Fairgrounds in Lancaster.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Teegardin of Tavares, Fla., were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hoover. Other dinner guests on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Teegardin and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoover and Mark Allen.

The Ashville-Harrison Volunteer Fire Department made the following runs recently: Aug. 8, automobile belonging to E. A. Thomas of Lucasville caught fire from a blown out tire on Route 23, $300 loss; Aug. 9, grass fire along C and O Railroad, no loss; Aug. 11, Ivan Crane home, Route 3, Circleville, $10. loss to sofa from a cigarette; Aug. 11, 79 Scioto St., grass fire at home of Marvin Custer, no loss; Aug. 11, called to farm of Martin Barr, no fire when firemen arrived; Aug. 11, Teays Valley School, no fire when firemen arrived.

Bastian Funeral Home Ambulance took Larry Rathburn to Doctors Hospital Aug. 14. Larry received a dislocated elbow when he fell from a horse.

New Leukemia Evidence Eyed

Cancer Research Gain Is Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new cancer research development, which a Senate group says foreshadows a likely major breakthrough in pin-pointing the cause of the highly fatal leukemia of childhood, became known in detail today.

The Senate Appropriations Committee referred to the development in general terms in a report released Tuesday. Commenting on it and other scientific findings reported in recent hearings, the committee said: "Effective methods of prevention and cure (of leukemia) seem distinct possibilities in the light of several observations, some old and some new."

Perhaps the key finding — made so recently that the scientists involved have not yet had their findings published in medical literature — is that virus-like particles found in the blood of some human victims of leukemia can apparently be made to grow in laboratory test tubes.

The development — climaxing three years of effort dating from the time when such particles were first found in leukemia patients — is a necessary prelude to pinning down whether the particles are truly viruses and whether, indeed, they are directly or indirectly involved in causing human leukemia.

It could also be a first step towards trying to develop a vaccine against leukemia.

Officials of the National Cancer Institute supplied the information when asked by a reporter what the Senate committee was referring to in its report.

The Senate committee gave its views in a report to the Senate recommending a $140,011,000 appropriation for NCI, plus $10 million more for the institute's special cancer-virus research programs.

Sauce for the Goose
BURLINGTON, N. C. (AP) — The recreation director at Burlington's municipal swimming pool announced this summer that boys with long "Beatle haircuts" must wear bathing caps.

Joe Davidson said girls have long been required to wear bathing caps so their long hair would not clog pool filters. "Some of these Beatle boys have longer hair than the girls," Davidson explained. "So the rule now must apply to them."

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 19, the 232nd day of 1964. There are 134 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1812, the United States frigate Constitution, famed in history as Old Ironsides, defeated the British frigate Guerriere in a battle in the North Atlantic.

On this date:

In 1942, the greatest commando attack in history was made by Allied forces on the Nazi-occupied port of Dieppe, France.

In 1944, the U.S. 3rd Army smashed into the suburbs of Paris.

In 1946, Washington disclosed that a second American transport plane had been forced down by Yugoslav fighter planes over Yugoslavia.

Ten years ago — President Dwight D. Eisenhower defended his Republican administration and criticized prophets of depression in a speech in Springfield, Ill.

Five years ago — The Discoverer 6 satellite was successfully launched into orbit from its California base.

One year ago — Some 150,000 British construction workers started a strike for higher pay and a shorter work week.

Ottawa, Canada's capital city, now ranks second only to Niagara Falls among Canadian tourist centers.

6 Are Killed In Headon Pennsy Crash

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP) —

A convertible shot over a 30-inch-high medial barrier near the Ohio gateway to the Pennsylvania Turnpike Tuesday night and slammed head-on into a station wagon, killing six persons and seriously injuring three others.

A truck driver directing traffic around the wreckage was also injured when hit by a car.

The dead were: Jerry Tinsley, 18, of Cleveland, driver of the convertible, and these passengers in Tinsley's car:

Parnell Lewis Days, 17, Morris D. Lanier, 18, Robert Carl Price, 18, all of Cleveland, and Isaac Reznick, 50, of Brooklyn, N.Y., who police said may have been a hitch-hiker. Another passenger, Kenneth Francis, 15, also of Cleveland, was listed in serious condition at Providence Hospital in Beaver Falls.

The sixth victim was Frank Heinz, 26, of Center, N.D., the driver of the station wagon. His wife, Lenore, 24, was listed in serious condition at the hospital. Their daughter, Kyle, 3, was transferred to Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh in serious condition.

Purple Damage-Getter

DENVER (AP) — A wayward grape led to an award of $6,929 to a Denver man. A District Court jury voted the damages after the man testified he slipped on a grape in a supermarket and injured his back.

Attorney Heads Campaign Group

Robert H. Huffer, local attorney, has been named chairman of a Pickaway County committee to retain Judge Rankin M. Gibson on the Ohio Supreme Court.

Huffer's appointment was made jointly with an announcement that Judge William H. Brooks and Arthur W. Wiles, both of Columbus, will serve as coordinators of the campaign activities in Central Ohio of Judge Gibson.

The official "kickoff" of the campaign will be held Aug. 27, at the Columbus Maennerchor with the Franklin County committee as host.

Photos of Kennedy

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — A recent amateur photography contest entitled "Kennedy in Germany" drew 1,600 entries from 500 participants. The pictures had to be related to the late President Kennedy's visit to Germany in 1963.

Awards were announced June 25, 1964, a year after the American President's visit.

An exhibition was made up of the winners and of the pictures taken by the youngest entrant — a 9-year-old who photographed Kennedy and Chancellor Ludwig Erhard riding in an open car — and by the oldest — a 63-year-old pensioner confined to his home who photographed Kennedy on his TV screen.

at the Pickaway County Fair this year. He is a member of the Derby Fine and Dandy 4-H Club. He will compete in the state health contest at the Ohio State Fair.

Photos of Kennedy

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — A recent amateur photography contest entitled "Kennedy in Germany" drew 1,600 entries from 500 participants. The pictures had to be related to the late President Kennedy's visit to Germany in 1963.

Awards were announced June 25, 1964, a year after the American President's visit.

An exhibition was made up of the winners and of the pictures taken by the youngest entrant — a 9-year-old who photographed Kennedy and Chancellor Ludwig Erhard riding in a open car — and by the oldest — a 63-year-old pensioner confined to his home who photographed Kennedy on his TV screen.

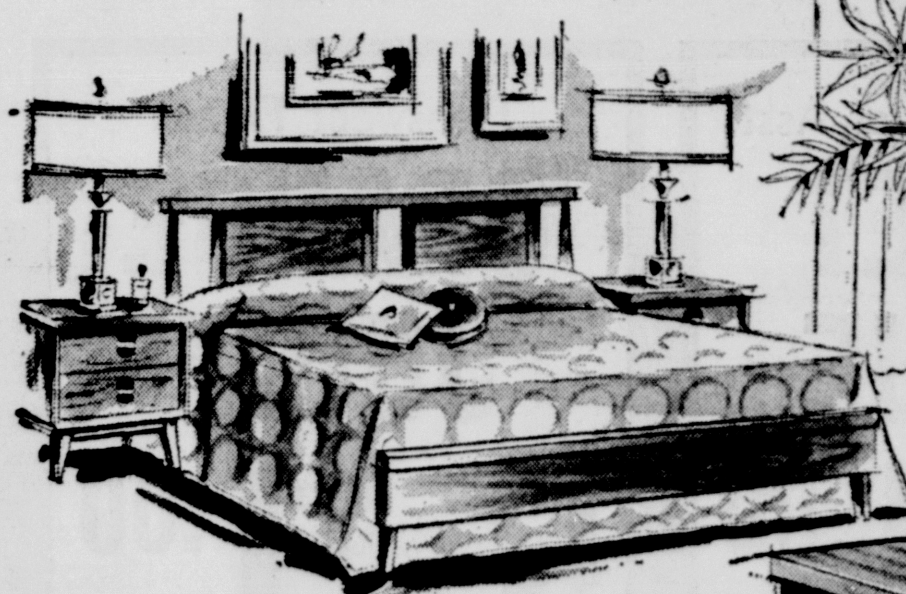

at the Pickaway County Fair this year. He is a member of the Derby Fine and Dandy 4-H Club. He will compete in the state health contest at the Ohio State Fair.

GOP Solon Raps Keating

Congressman Seeks Party Nomination

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Paul A. Fino, Bronx County Republican chairman, has challenged Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of Rochester for the GOP nomination to the U.S. Senate.

Fino says Keating, who formally announced for a second term Tuesday, "cannot and should not" ask for renomination as long as he continues to withhold endorsement of presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

Until Fino declared his candidacy in a statement in Washington, Keating had been expected to win unanimous nomination at the Republican State Committee meeting here Aug. 31.

Fino's move raised the possibility of a floor fight at the meeting, but nomination of Keating appeared certain. Keating's announcement won favorable reaction among party leaders, including Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, State Chairman Fred A. Young and Sen. Jacob K. Javits.

Fino said "Keating's failure and refusal to support the national ticket is tantamount to bolting the Republican party."

A major threat to Keating's chances in the general election is the possibility that Clare Boothe Luce, a staunch Goldwater supporter, will run for the Senate as the Conservative party candidate.

Keating conceded that Mrs. Luce would draw votes that otherwise might go to him.

Mrs. Luce — playwright, former Republican congresswoman from Connecticut, ambassador to Italy during the Eisenhower administration and wife of publisher Henry R. Luce — said Tuesday she would have to give more consideration to the Conservative party invitation to run.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy is reported to have more than enough delegate votes to win the Democratic Senate nomination at the party's state convention here on Sept. 1.

The New England section of the country received its name from Capt. John Smith. The wooded hills, narrow green valleys and rocky hillsides reminded him of his native England.

Another Coin Collection Is Said Stolen

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Shreveport, La., businessman who came to Cleveland for a national coin collectors' convention has reported the theft of a collection of rare coins valued at $50,000.

There has been a rash of valuable coin thefts in northern Ohio recently, including the attempted theft of a $1 million collection from a suburban North Royalton man in May.

Thomas A. Bridges, owner of the Shreveport Teletype Coin Exchange, told police Tuesday night that the missing collection was in two brown leather carrying cases which were taken from his room at a downtown hotel.

Bridges said the theft occurred between 8 and 9:30 p.m. while he was away from his hotel room on the sixth floor. He said the hotel door was locked when he returned. Police said there were no signs of forcible entry.

More than 5,000 collectors are due in Cleveland for the 73rd annual convention of the American Numismatic Association, which opens today.

Exhibits valued at millions of dollars will be on display. A dozen or more off-duty Cleveland detectives reportedly have been hired to guard the various collections.

In Warren, Ohio, over the weekend, the owner of a coin shop reported a burglary in which an estimated 250,000 worth of rare coins and bills were taken. Authorities said professionals took the coins.

Middleport, Pomeroy Suffer During Storm

MIDDLEPORT, Ohio (AP) — Property damage estimated in the thousands of dollars was caused by a short but violent storm which struck Middleport and nearby Pomeroy early Tuesday night.

The isolated storm lasted only seven minutes but knocked down 50 to 100 trees and many wires in Middleport and blew the roofs off of several houses. Three or four trees and a few lines were blown down in Pomeroy also. No injuries were reported.

Campobello Has Colorful Past

CAMPOBELLO, N.B. (AP) — A vagary of treaty-writing made this island, which Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson visits Thursday, a part of Canada, rather than the United States.

The First Lady, and Mrs.

Lester B. Pearson, her Canadian counterpart, are coming for the official establishment of the late President Franklin Delano Roosevelt's summer home as an international park.

More than 120 years ago, the United States and Britain were embroiled in a northeastern boundary dispute, which was settled in 1842 by the Webster-Ashburton Treaty. The agreement gave three islands off eastern Maine — Campobello, Deer Island and Grand Manan — to the mother country.

To this day there are those who think the American negotiator, Daniel Webster, was taken.

From Campobello's southwestern shore, a good golfer could drop a drive into Lubec, Maine. A 2-year-old bridge linking the island with the Maine sardine-canning town is only 847 feet long.

All around the wooded island — it's nine miles long and three wide — herring weirs jut into the sea — mute evidence that the 1,300 year 'round residents depend largely, as do Lubecers, on the lowly sardine.

But the economy's base is shifting to tourism. The $900,000 bridge was largely responsible. Since its construction, Campobello has acquired its first restaurant — and hot dog stands.

Campobello has a long, checkered history. It has been the feudal fief of a Welsh family; haven for pre-Revolutionary War Tories from New York; a base for smuggling; summer playground of the wealthy; home to hard-working fisher folk, and now again a playground, this time for motoring vacationers.

A British navy captain, William Owen, acquired the island from the crown in 1767 — in exchange for an arm lost in battle, one legend has it.

For a century the Owens ruled — the last an Adm. William Fitzwilliam Owen who built, among other things, a plank walk around the rim of an island cliff on which he could walk and imagine himself still at sea.

In 1881, the island was sold to a group of wealthy New Yorkers and Bostonians who built hotels and cottages. Among them was the late President Roosevelt's father, James.

The red-shingled house, centerpiece of the new park, is nothing fancy. The accent is on comfort. Inside, it's just as if Franklin, Eleanor and their children had gone down to the beach and would be back any moment.

Grand Jury To Ponder Stab Case

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Clark County prosecutor James Barry said Tuesday night he will take before the grand jury next month evidence collected in the stabbing death of 14-year-old Jessica Minter.

Barry indicated he would seek no specific indictment by the panel.

The prosecutor's announcement followed the filing of a report in common pleas court by coroner Austin Richards in which he labeled the pretty teenager's death a homicide and urged that the investigation be continued.

Jessica's body was found the morning of June 30 in her home in a residential neighborhood northwest of Springfield. She had been stabbed 21 times.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Minter, a divorcee, told police her daughter was alone in the home when she left the house at 9 a.m. for work at a Springfield meat packing firm. Jessica's body was found two hours later by a girl friend who had stopped by to pick her up for a swimming date.

Cat Went Motoring

CALY CENTER, Kan. (AP) — C. W. Webb was befuddled when the sounds coming from under the hood of his car changed from a quiet purr to an eerie wail. Then his engine began acting odd.

Webb checked and found that a cat had crawled into the engine compartment. When things got too hot, the cat jerked loose several wires in his attempts to gain freedom.

THE PILL-A MISTAKE

Q. According to a newspaper article, pills to prevent pregnancy should not be taken by women over 35 years of age. Would you explain?

A. A committee of medical experts appointed by the Food and Drug Administration first reported that an oral contraceptive could be a hazard for women over 35 because of the risk of certain circulatory disorders. About two months later the committee revised the earlier report. A mathematical error was said to have caused the exaggeration of the drug's seeming hazard in the first report. However, prolonged, uninterrupted use of the drug is not advisable. Consult your physician.

ORAL POLIO VACCINE AFTER POLIO SHOTS

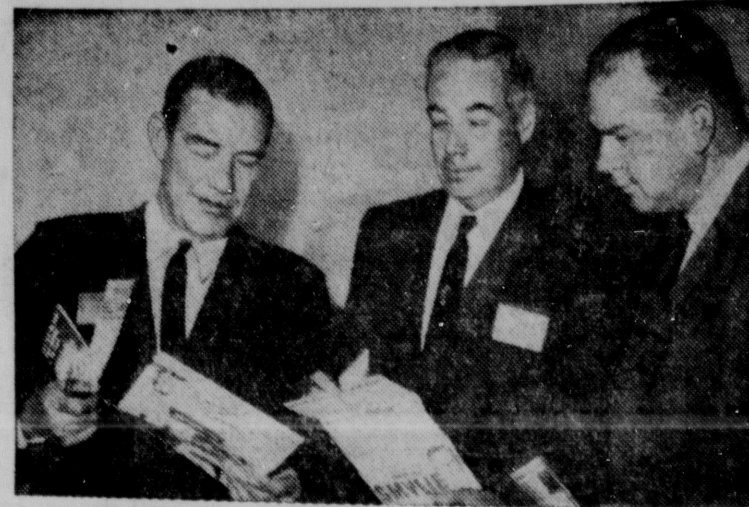

Q. My children have each had three polio vaccine shots. Should they also take oral polio vaccine?

A. Yes, and for the following reasons:
(1) Oral poliomyelitis vaccine is believed to afford much longer immunity—probably for a lifetime.
(2) Oral vaccine prevents the recipient from harboring polio virus in his intestinal tract and thus spreading the disease. Polio shots protect the recipient but do not prevent him from harboring the virus and thus acting as a carrier of poliomyelitis.

GOP Solon Raps Keating

Congressman Seeks Party Nomination

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Paul A. Fino, Bronx County Republican chairman, has challenged Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of Rochester for the GOP nomination to the U.S. Senate.

Fino says Keating, who formally announced for a second term Tuesday, "cannot and should not" ask for renomination as long as he continues to withhold endorsement of presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

Until Fino declared his candidacy in a statement in Washington, Keating had been expected to win unanimous nomination at the Republican State Committee meeting here Aug. 31.

Fino's move raised the possibility of a floor fight at the meeting, but nomination of Keating appeared certain. Keating's announcement won favorable reaction among party leaders, including Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, State Chairman Fred A. Young and Sen. Jacob K. Javits.

Fino said "Keating's failure and refusal to support the national ticket is tantamount to bolting the Republican party."

A major threat to Keating's chances in the general election is the possibility that Clare Boothe Luce, a staunch Goldwater supporter, will run for the Senate as the Conservative party candidate.

Keating conceded that Mrs. Luce would draw votes that otherwise might go to him.

Mrs. Luce — playwright, former Republican congresswoman from Connecticut, ambassador to Italy during the Eisenhower administration and wife of publisher Henry R. Luce — said Tuesday she would have to give more consideration to the Conservative party invitation to run.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy is reported to have more than enough delegate votes to win the Democratic Senate nomination at the party's state convention here on Sept. 1.

The New England section of the country received its name from Capt. John Smith. The wooded hills, narrow green valleys and rocky hillsides reminded him of his native England.

Another Coin Collection Is Said Stolen

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Shreveport, La., businessman who came to Cleveland for a national coin collectors' convention has reported the theft of a collection of rare coins valued at $50,000.

There has been a rash of valuable coin thefts in northern Ohio recently, including the attempted theft of a $1 million collection from a suburban North Royalton man in May.

Thomas A. Bridges, owner of the Shreveport Teletype Coin Exchange, told police Tuesday night that the missing collection was in two brown leather carrying cases which were taken from his room at a downtown hotel.

Bridges said the theft occurred between 8 and 9:30 p.m. while he was away from his hotel room on the sixth floor. He said the hotel door was locked when he returned. Police said there were no signs of forcible entry.

More than 5,000 collectors are due in Cleveland for the 73rd annual convention of the American Numismatic Association, which opens today.

Exhibits valued at millions of dollars will be on display. A dozen or more off-duty Cleveland detectives reportedly have been hired to guard the various collections.

In Warren, Ohio, over the weekend, the owner of a coin shop reported a burglary in which an estimated 250,000 worth of rare coins and bills were taken. Authorities said professionals took the coins.

Middleport, Pomeroy Suffer During Storm

MIDDLEPORT, Ohio (AP) — Property damage estimated in the thousands of dollars was caused by a short but violent storm which struck Middleport and nearby Pomeroy early Tuesday night.

The isolated storm lasted only seven minutes but knocked down 50 to 100 trees and many wires in Middleport and blew the roofs off of several houses. Three or four trees and a few lines were blown down in Pomeroy also. No injuries were reported.

Campobello Has Colorful Past

CAMPOBELLO, N.B. (AP) — A vagary of treaty-writing made this island, which Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson visits Thursday, a part of Canada, rather than the United States.

The First Lady, and Mrs. Lester B. Pearson, her Canadian counterpart, are coming for the official establishment of the late President Franklin Delano Roosevelt's summer home as an international park.

More than 120 years ago, the United States and Britain were embroiled in a northeastern boundary dispute, which was settled in 1842 by the Webster-Ashburton Treaty. The agreement gave three islands off eastern Maine — Campobello, Deer Island and Grand Manan — to the mother country.

To this day there are those who think the American negotiator, Daniel Webster, was taken.

From Campobello's southwestern shore, a good golfer could drop a drive into Lubec, Maine. A 2-year-old bridge linking the island with the Maine sardine-canning town is only 847 feet long.

All around the wooded island — it's nine miles long and three wide — herring weirs jut into the sea — mute evidence that the 1,300 year 'round residents depend largely, as do Lubecers, on the lowly sardine.

But the economy's base is shifting to tourism. The $900,000 bridge was largely responsible. Since its construction, Campobello has acquired its first restaurant — and hot dog stands.

Campobello has a long, check-

ered history. It has been the feudal fief of a Welsh family; haven for pre-Revolutionary War Tories from New York; a base for smuggling; summer playground of the wealthy; home to hard-working fisher folk, and now again a playground, this time for motoring vacationers.

A British navy captain, William Owen, acquired the island from the crown in 1767 — in exchange for an arm lost in battle, one legend has it.

For a century the Owens ruled — the last an Adm. William Fitzwilliam Owen who built, among other things, a plank walk around the rim of an island cliff on which he could walk and imagine himself still at sea.

In 1881, the island was sold to a group of wealthy New Yorkers and Bostonians who built hotels and cottages. Among them was the late President Roosevelt's father, James.

The red-shingled house, centerpiece of the new park, is nothing fancy. The accent is on comfort. Inside, it's just as if Franklin, Eleanor and their children had gone down to the beach and would be back any moment.

Ohio Board OKs Fees on Kentuckians

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Reciprocity Board decided Tuesday that Kentucky trucks and buses operating in the Buckeye state must pay Ohio decal fees.

The action was the latest development in a running dispute with Kentucky over truck fee reciprocity.

Atty. Gen. William Saxbe said reciprocity on license plates between the two states will continue pending further negotiations over other truck charges.

He asserted that Kentucky charges Ohio trucks a weight tax ranging up to $500 a vehicle but waives those charges for other out-of-state trucks operating in Kentucky.

Saxbe said the Kentucky weight tax imposed on Ohioans is in retaliation for the Buckeye state's axle-mile tax. That levy ranges to 2 1/4 cents a mile according to the number of axles on big trucks.

The reciprocity board affirmed an earlier action of the Public Utilities Commission requiring payment of decal fees, effective July 1. Decals cost from $20 to $30 per truck and $4 per seat for buses operating in Ohio.

37th Division Convention Slated

Veterans of Ohio's famed "Buckeye" 37th Infantry Division will hold their 46th annual convention Sept. 4-7 at Akron. Headquarters for the Labor Day weekend affair will be the Hotel Sheraton.

Akron Chapter of the association will be host for the convention. A program for women will run in conjunction with the events for the men.

Registration will open the four-day convention on Friday evening at 6 p. m. Open house and entertainment will be on the agenda.

A meeting of the association officers and chapter officers will wind up the meeting at 9 a. m. Monday.

All veterans and their friends are invited to attend the sessions.

Jail Graduation

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Three teachers who spent 72 hours in jail with their students returned later for their graduation exercises.

The ceremony was held at Jefferson County Jail, where 17 prisoners received certificates for completing courses in adult education.

The teachers — Elroy Cartwright, Willis Fischer and Gordon Hoskins — held two-hour classes three times a week.

Wildlife Management Unit Game Protectors Are Named

RICHARD WOLF FROM

DAVID KRUPLA

David Krupla, Bloomington, has been named senior conservationist of the southern wildlife management unit of District No. 1.

Game protectors who will be serving with Krupla in the new management unit are Richard J. Wolf from, 950 S. Pickaway St.; Alan L. Ward, London; and Richard B. Pierce, Lancaster. Pickaway County has been combined with Franklin, Fairfield, Fayette and Madison counties to form the unit.

The new program has been started to remove county line barriers that often limited activities of Ohio Game protectors and the resulting services they were able to provide.

Present plans call for each wildlife management unit to be staffed with as many game protectors as there are counties within the unit.

In the local unit, Franklin County presently has no resident game protector.

Dale Whitesell, chief of the Division of Wildlife, pointed out that although there will be a game protector living in each county to provide for local needs and emergencies, his assignment will be for the entire unit.

"The Wildlife Management Units will be supervised and the work scheduled on a local level," Whitesell explained, "by the senior conservationist who will be promoted to the new position from the game protectors' ranks."

"The need for the new arrangement has been recognized by the Division of Wildlife as a solution toward improving service to the public without requiring additional personnel," said Whitesell.

"In viewing the wildlife activities for each county," he added, "it is easily seen that the work load is not equal from one county to another. Some counties with high human population such as Lucas, Cuyahoga, Franklin, Hamilton, Summit, and the like, require much more of the game protector's time for public relations and allied activities compared with the more rural counties that do not have these high human populations."

"Seasonal activities of our fieldmen also change the work load from one area to another during the year requiring special deployment of personnel. Although there have been definite inequities in the work load from one county to another, the salary for each game protector has been the same."

"By instituting this new wildlife management unit program, we can better distribute the overall work load by assigning the necessary personnel to any area within the unit to get a specific job done. And by doing we will improve and expand our services to the public."

"The Board of Education at Washington C. H. has promoted Lewis Morgan from reserve to head basketball coach. The move was designed to fill the vacancy left when former head coach John Powell resigned to accept a similar position in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Junior High School.

Morgan, who was reserve cage coach at WHS for three seasons, will be assisted by James Wilson as reserve coach. Robert Bane will tutor the Junior High.

Morgan Named WCH Cage Coach

Derby Chalks Victory in Tourney Here

Derby advanced a round in the Circleville Baseball Tournament last night by dropping Fairfield, 12-2, on four hits.

Combs took the mound for the winners and hurled excellent ball, walking two and fanning 10. He fired until the fifth inning and allowed all four hits and two runs.

Musselman relieved Combs in the fifth and finished the game. He whiffed the six men he faced.

Rowland was the big hitter for Derby, powering a homerun, double and single. Combs bombed a homerun and Haney added three singles.

Adkins started on the hill for the losers and pitched the initial four frames. Hume replaced him and went two innings. Edwards finished the game.

ADKINS walked five and fanned two. Hume walked two and fanned two and Edwards fanned a batter. Together they allowed 13 hits. Adkins was the losing pitcher.

Hastings paced the losers with the bat, cracking a homerun. Adkins, Edwards and Maggard added losing singles.

CHS Coaches Set For Grid Clinic

Bleachers Installed at Logan Elm

The Logan Elm Booster Club has installed permanent bleachers at the Braves football field, it was announced today by Don Humphrey, club president.

The bleachers, which have a capacity for 980 persons, cost $8,000. They are situated at mid-field between the 40-yard markers.

Humphrey said the booster club was conducting a fund raising drive to pay for the bleachers. This includes a program of selling three-year reserved seats.

The reserved seats are sold at a price of $10. However, Humphrey noted the cost of admission is not included in the price.

The selling drive will begin Friday and last through the remainder of the month.

Coach Al Widmar of the Philadelphia Phils began his pitching career with Canton, Ohio in the Mid-Atlantic League in 1942.

HUSKY MUSKIE — Charles Arledge (right), 318 Abernathy Ave., and his brother, Dorsell, Route 4, baited their trot line with four-inch chub minnows last night on Darby Creek and hoped for a nice catch of catfish. Instead they hauled in this 38½-inch, 14¼-pound muskie. The fish already has a place reserved on the Arledge home wall. A proud Charlie tells that he and his brother "have caught a lot of catfish, but never anything like this!"

Wildlife Management Unit Game Protectors Are Named

RICHARD WOLFROM

DAVID KRUPLA

David Krupla, Bloomington, has been named senior conservationist of the southern wildlife management unit of District No. 1.

Game protectors who will be serving with Krupla in the new management unit are Richard J. Wolfrom, 950 S. Pickaway St.; Alan L. Ward, London; and Richard B. Pierce, Lancaster. Pickaway County has been combined with Franklin, Fairfield, Fayette and Madison counties to form the unit.

The new program has been started to remove county line barriers that often limited activities of Ohio game protectors and the resulting services they

Derby Chalks Victory in Tourney Here

Derby advanced a round in the Circleville Baseball Tournament last night by dropping Fairfield, 12-2, on four hits.

Combs took the mound for the winners and hurled excellent ball, walking two and fanning 10. He fired until the fifth inning and allowed all four hits and two runs.

Musselman relieved Combs in the fifth and finished the game. He whiffed the six men he faced. Rowland was the big hitter for Derby, powering a homerun, double and single. Combs bombed a homerun and Hanev added three singles.

Adkins started on the hill for the losers and pitched the initial four frames. Hume replaced him and went two innings. Edwards finished the game.

ADKINS walked five and fanned two, Hume walked two and fanned two and Edwards fanned a batter. Together they allowed 13 hits. Adkins was the losing pitcher.

Hastings paced the losers with the bat, cracking a homerun. Adkins, Edwards and Maggard added losing singles.

CHS Coaches Set For Grid Clinic

The Circleville High School coaching staff will conduct a clinic 7:30 p. m. today in the gym for the purpose of educating parents on basic points of football.

All interested persons are invited and urged to attend. Players are reminded that uniforms will be handed out Thursday. Seniors and lettermen report at 8:30, juniors and sophomores at 9:30 and freshmen at 10:30.

All-Stars Top Bankers, 9-5

The Red All-Stars of the Little League Minors handed the Second National Bank a 9-5 loss yesterday.

The Bankers were Little League champs this year. Randy Sprout went the route for the All-Stars, hurling a three-hit ball game. Mike Williams banged a four - sacker off Sprout, the only extra base hit he allowed.

Hunter Certain, the losing pitcher, collected the other two hits for the bankers.

Certain allowed 12 hits, including triples by Wertie Teets, Jimmy Neal and Jackie Allen.

Area Tractor Club Members Earn Honors at Morrow Fair

Local drivers made a good showing yesterday in the tractor pull event at the Morrow County Fair in Mt. Gilead.

Three classes were featured in the contest sponsored by the Central Ohio Tractor Pullers Club. Competition consisted of the 5,000, 7,500 and 10,000 - pound divisions.

First place in all three classes were earned by drivers from the Pickaway County community. There were 51 entries.

Earning top place in the 10,000-pound class was Steve Rittinger of Circleville. John McFarland of New Holland reaped the honors in the 7,500-pound category and Dick McPherson of Orient walked off with laurels in the 5,000-pound division.

HERE are the complete results in the order of finish: 10,000 class — Steve Rittinger, Circleville; Wheeler Rittinger, Circleville; Richard McGinnis, Mt. Sterling; Paul Daniels, Mt. Gilead; Richard Parrott, Circleville.

7,500 class — John McFarland, New Holland; Bruce McKernan, Mt. Gilead; Russ McFarland, New Holland; Larry Schlosser, Orient; Charles Rittinger, Williamsport.

5,000 class — Dick McPherson, Orient; Wheeler Rittinger, Circleville; Larry Swartzmiller, Ada; Charles Rittinger, Williamsport; Herb Miller, Circleville.

Teays Valley Sets Schedule For Gridders

As area schools around the county prep for the coming football campaign, Teays Valley head coach Marion Waits announced a schedule of activities for his TV gridgers.

Equipment will be distributed 9 a. m. Thursday in the Teays Valley Gym. Physicals will also be given to players who missed exams earlier.

An orientation meeting will be held 7:30 p. m. Thursday for prospective members of the grid team, and their parents, in the auditorium.

Official varsity practice will begin Friday with two-day drills set for 9 a. m. Freshman football, under the direction of newly appointed coach Russ Gregg, will begin with the opening of school.

Rookie Hurler Gives Tribe Win

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rookie right-hander Luis Tiant has built quite an impressive record for himself since the Cleveland Indians recalled him from their Portland farm club a month ago.

His fine performance Tuesday night gave the Tribe a split in a two-night doubleheader with the Kansas City Athletics. The 23-year-old Cuban turned in a solid six-hitter in beating the A's 5-1.

The A's outslugged the Indians 13-9 in the opener.

Tiant recorded his sixth triumph against two defeats. His 12 strikeouts bettered by one his major league high—registered in his first start against the New York Yankees.

It was the fifth complete game for Tiant, who had a 15-1 record at Portland.

Vada Pinson's Waving Arms Irk Al Dark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If you see it Al Dark's way, the San Francisco Giants were beaten in the first game of their vital home stand by three arms.

Dark, whose Giants are trying to overhaul National League-leading Philadelphia, wasn't too happy about the job done by Jim O'Toole's left arm as the Cincinnati Reds to a four-hit, 1-0 victory Tuesday night.

But what made the San Francisco manager furious was the feeling that the Giants were really given the business by Vada Pinson's waving arms.

The situation that angered Dark arose in the eighth inning of a scoreless duel between O'Toole and Bob Bolin, who had limited the Reds to two hits when they suddenly parlayed a walk, a bunt single, an error and Pinson's arms into the game's only run.

With one out in the eighth, Chico Ruiz walked and reached second on Marty Keough's bunt single. Pinson then lofted a short fly to center, shortstop Jose Pagan brushing into center fielder Willie Mays as the ball dropped between them. That filled the bases and set the stage for the key play.

Frank Robinson hit a grounder to second baseman Hal Lanier, who flipped to Pagan for a force, but the Giants missed the double play when Pagan's relay to first pulled Orlando Cepeda off the bag. Ruiz entered the Reds' dugout after scoring as Dark came storming out of the Giants' dugout.

Dark protested that Pinson had interfered with Pagan's vision by waving his arms as he came into second base, but was overruled. He also was ejected.

The loss cost the Giants an opportunity to gain ground on the front-running Phillies, who maintained their five-game lead despite a 4-3 loss in 16 innings to the Chicago Cubs.

Joey Amalfitano's two-run double won it for the Cubs in a 5-hour and 23-minute struggle which the first to go past the 12:50 a.m. local time curfew since NL President Warren Giles lifted the time ban to allow all games to be played to a decision.

The St. Louis Cardinals, meanwhile, moved into fourth place as Ray Sadecki posted his 15th victory in a 5-2 triumph over Houston, Milwaukee's Denny Lemaster four-hit the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-1 and Joe Christopher slammed a homer, two triples and a double in the New York Mets' 7-3 walloping of Pittsburgh.

American League-leading Baltimore defeated Boston 5-2, the Chicago White Sox edged the New York Yankees 4-3 in 10 innings, Minnesota whipped Washington 6-1, the Los Angeles Angels and Detroit swapped 1-0 shutouts in a two-nighter and Kansas City thumped Cleveland 13-9 before the Indians took the nightcap 5-1.

Club Shots

The playoffs for the Pickaway Country Club Championship, scheduled Sept. 7 have started. Results of the first round of the championship are:

Championship flight — Bruce Helwagen beat Tim Dickinson; Bob Furman beat Don Dawson, Steve Brudzinski beat Bob MacFadden; Dean MacFadden beat Tom Eveland; Steve Helwagen beat Brent Bell; Chuck Smith beat Dick Patrick; Bud Hritz beat Maynard Eaton; Abner Leach beat George Fuhrman.

Third Flight — George Grigg beat Jack Sweeney; Frank Nagy beat West Edstrom; Lloyd Wardell beat Jim Stallings; Brian Bell beat Bruce Chelkowski; Wayne Smith drew a bye; Mike Harrison beat John Payne; Fred Davis beat Bob Hendricks; Vick Rogers beat Dick Plum.

In the Men's Golf League, a playoff has been scheduled between the winner of the first and the winner of the second round. The team of Steve Brudzinski, Snap Ankrum, Rudy Chelkowski; Karl Heffelfinger, Bob Hendricks, and Vic Rogers won the first round. The second round's winning team was composed of Don Dawson, Gordy Fraser, D. J. Carpenter, Jack Sweeney, Bill Camp and John Payne.

Coach of Buffalo Bills Sees Great Year Ahead

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Coach Lou Saban counts on the running of a healthy Cookie Gilchrist and Wray Carlton and the passing of Jack Kemp to keep his Buffalo Bills in the thick of the race in the American Football League's Eastern Division.

"This should be the best club I've had," said Saban, who is starting his third year as head man. "Our main problem last year was losing key men like Carlton, Gilchrist and Dick Hudson for most of the season. Our offensive line should be better and our running game should be improved. We have added some young men who will help us on defense."

The Bills have a secret weapon in Pete Gogolak, the Hungarian refugee from Cornell who kicks field goals from a 45-degree angle, soccer-style. Gogolak booted a 57-yard field goal in the Bills' first exhibition game and thinks he can do better.

The Bills think they are solid up front with Hudson back at right tackle after missing a year with a knee injury. Dave Behrman moves over to right guard, Center Al Bemiller, left guard Billy Shaw and left tackle Steve Barber are the others.

Kemp, with Daryle Lamonica to back him up, will do the passing to split end Bill Miller, flanker Elbert Dubenion and tight end Ernie Warlick. Gilchrist, reportedly sound again, is ready to carry the heavy burden at fullback, with

Ohio Archers Await Tests

Newark To Host Regional Tourney

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—Modern Robin Hoods will have their day here Saturday, Aug. 29, as bow and arrow addicts from at least five states stage the Newark Open Regional Archery Tournament.

Among the more than 400 entrants are former national champions Margaret Tilberry of Springfield, Jim Bell of Cambridge, Bill Bednar of Akron and Bill Partin of Mansfield, along with state or regional champions Bob Cohagen of Zanesville, and Ed Lattimer and Ted Schultz, both of Logan.

Most of the archers use bows with a 30 to 40-pound pull, and the tournament at the Flying M Archery Center will feature two contests.

The first is a four-member team run over the Professional Archery Association course, with each firing three arrows at each of 10 targets 18 to 65 yards away.

After the first round the 10 leading teams will shoot for the championship over the same course, with the two-round aggregate score deciding the victor. The individual champion also will be named in the team event, the one coming closest to the perfect 300-point total for two rounds taking the laurels.

The second event, a bow skeet competition, is of special interest to hunters who fire at moving targets. The marksmen will fire from 25 yards at corrugated discs 13 inches in diameter flying through the air some 25 feet above the ground.

Thirty shots are allowed in the race, with the last 25 counting in the scoring. Shooting starts at noon, and publicity chief Walt Cook said some 2,000 spectators will be on hand for the affair.

Girl, 14, Does OK In Women's Test

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—Petite, refreshing Marsha Houghton, the youngest player in the U.S. Women's Amateur Golf Tournament, seems not the least surprised at being ranked high in today's first round of play.

"I'm impressed by all these big names," said the 14-year-old Modesto, Calif., school girl after posting rounds of 77-77—154 in the 36-hole qualifying.

She was three strokes off the pace set by JoAnne Gunderson of Seattle, Barbara McIntire of Colorado Springs and Polly Riley of Fort Worth, who shared medalist honors at 151.

Miss Gunderson and Miss McIntire, both former winners, posted second rounds of 74 — one over par for the Prairie Dunes Country Club course — while Miss Riley, finalist in this event in 1953, turned in a 75.

Ohio Archers Await Tests

Newark To Host Regional Tourney

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—Modern Robin Hoods will have their day here Saturday, Aug. 29, as bow and arrow addicts from at least five states stage the Newark Open Regional Archery Tournament.

Among the more than 400 entrants are former national champions Margaret Tilberry of Springfield, Jim Bell of Cambridge, Bill Bednar of Akron and Bill Partin of Mansfield, along with state or regional champions Bob Cohagen of Zanesville, and Ed Lattimer and Ted Schultz, both of Logan.

Most of the archers use bows with a 30 to 40-pound pull, and the tournament at the Flying M Archery Center will feature two contests.

The first is a four-member team run over the Professional Archery Association course, with each firing three arrows at each of 10 targets 18 to 65 yards away.

After the first round the 10 leading teams will shoot for the championship over the same course, with the two-round aggregate score deciding the victor. The individual champion also will be named in the team event, the one coming closest to the perfect 300-point total for two rounds taking the laurels.

The second event, a bow skeet competition, is of special interest to hunters who fire at moving targets. The marksmen will fire from 25 yards at corrugated discs 13 inches in diameter flying through the air some 25 feet above the ground.

Thirty shots are allowed in the race, with the last 25 counting in the scoring. Shooting starts at noon, and publicity chief Walt Cook said some 2,000 spectators will be on hand for the affair.

Girl, 14, Does OK In Women's Test

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Petite, refreshing Marsha Houghton, the youngest player in the U.S. Women's Amateur Golf Tournament, seems not the least surprised at being ranked high in today's first round of play.

"I'm impressed by all these big names," said the 14-year-old Modesto, Calif., school girl after posting rounds of 77-77—154 in the 36-hole qualifying.

She was three strokes off the pace set by JoAnne Gunderson of Seattle, Barbara McIntire of Colorado Springs and Polly Riley of Fort Worth, who shared medalist honors at 151.

Miss Gunderson and Miss McIntire, both former winners, posted second rounds of 74 — one over par for the Prairie Dunes Country Club course — while Miss Riley, finalist in this event in 1953, turned in a 75.

Blue, 63, is under federal indictment on three counts of failing to report income of $45,946 for 1958-60, and on three counts of signing false corporate tax returns for those years.

Stock Mart Prices Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—Gains by cigarette stocks and a slump in cigar issues were highlights of a mixed stock market early this afternoon.

The cigarette stocks added substantial gains following a report from the Internal Revenue Service that cigarettes have rocketed back from the slump that followed the government report last January linking them to lung cancer and heart disease.

The IRS also reported a nose dive in shipments of small cigars.

Steels carried through only a bit from their rally of Tuesday and the major auto shares marked time along with the auto labor talks.

Aerospace issues were up while airlines were down.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 316.7 with industrials up .3, rails off .7 and utilities up .4.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 70 at 843.53.

Glueck, said the budding criminal can be ascertained by means of a test.

A test made up of questions put to parents and children, enables the researcher to place his finger on a child with a latent criminal potential. The test is 80 to 90 per cent accurate, the Gluecks said.

Eleanor Glueck, who read the paper, said the mother plays a determining role in whether a child is to become a delinquent.

The three vital factors which determine the mother's influence on the child are the amount of supervision she is giving the child, the amount of discipline she is able to infuse into it and the amount of cohesion there exists in the family.

In their paper, Mr. Glueck, 68 and Mrs. Glueck, 66, said their findings were based on more than 40 years of criminal research and 33 years experience since their first prediction tables in connection with parole were published. They turned

4 Accidents Here Involve Eight Cars; Five Injured

A rash of four accidents here yesterday and today involved eight cars and caused five injuries.

The first of the accidents occurred 1:55 p. m. yesterday when Randy Jo Jenkins, 3, of 158 York St., ran into the path of a car driven by Gerald Hall, 213 W. Corwin St. The mishap was on E. Franklin St.

The youngster suffered bruises on his left side and lacerations. Police said Hall saw the boy in time to apply his brakes and avoid serious injury. No charges were filed.

At 5:30 p. m., Charles White, Route 1, Laurelville, stopped for the traffic light at the intersection of N. Court and Seyfert Ave. Officers said Keith Van Hoose, 371 John St., following the White car, failed to stop his car in time and struck the rear of the auto.

Mrs. White, a passenger, complained of neck injuries and was referred to her family physician. Both cars were extensively damaged. Police said Van Hoose will be charged with failure to have assured clear distance ahead.

A non-injury accident oc-their attention to children 15 years ago.

The Gluecks said their method of testing boys, for instance, could establish whether the child who pulled a girl's hair or threw ink pellets was a potential delinquent or just high spirited.

Of 300 American boys tested in 1953, 23 out of 27 who were charted as potential delinquents had become serious and persistent criminals by 1963. On the other hand, only seven of 193 predicted non-delinquents turned to crime later, she said.

"It is terribly important that a mother should remain close to her children. That raises the whole question of working mothers."

"If mother goes out to work there has got to be a substitute," she said.

This, she conceded, was more difficult nowadays when very often there is no grandmother, aunt, or elder sister to take mother's place in a home with children.

curred 6:10 p. m. on Watt St. near the Court St. intersection when Donna Lutz, 332 Watt St., and Harry Metier, 306 Northridge Road, collided.

The Lutz car was turning the corner into Watt St., when Metier pulled out, police said. A parked car belonging to Bernard Mogan, 121 Watt St., was slightly damaged, as were the other two vehicles. No charges were filed.

The worst of the accidents occurred at 2:42 a. m. today on N. Pickaway St. when a car driven by Blodwyn Scarborough, 706 N. Court St., crashed into a parked auto.

The parked car, owned by Charles Styers, 583 N. Pickaway, was in front of his home. It was forced 90-feet over a bush and into a stone wall.

Mrs. Scarborough suffered a laceration of the mouth. Two passengers, Daniel Brungs, Route 1, Williamsport, and Ray Murray, 346 Barnes Ave., were injured. Brungs suffered a sprained back and Murray received a chin laceration.

All three were taken to Berger Hospital. The driver will be charged with reckless operation, officers said.

A SECOND ordinance gaining passage called for the appropriation of $500 for needed repairs within the city's traffic light system. Police Chief Robert Temple said part of the money will be used to correct repeated failures of the traffic light control unit housed at police headquarters, along with purchase of a timing device to reduce a power overload.

A single resolution gaining Council approval provides for the installation of two street lights on Edgewood Drive and one at the intersection of Walnut Creek Pike and old Route 23.

An ordinance dealing with the controversial movement of house trailers into residential areas was not read, although the measure was placed on the clerk's desk.

Solicitor Robbins informed Council that it has a long way to go before the zoning amendment can be introduced for first reading. He said the measure should be referred to the proper Council committee, advertised for a specified time and a public hearing set.

Joe Bell, acting in the absence of Council President Harold Clifton, referred the legislation to the service committee. A delegation of property owners concerned with the house trailer problem attended last night's session.

A plat pertaining to development of land owned by Donald Watt along N. Court St. and old Route 23 was referred back to the City Planning and Zoning Commission for further study and recommendations. It was indicated that future action will hinge on the outcome of the Northend Storm Sewer project that Council is now trying to unravel.

Boy, 15, Wins 18-Hour Battle

COCOA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Bolstered by a ham sandwich, weary 15-year-old Tom Joyner Jr., battled a 370-pound sting ray for 18 hours.

He finally got it to shore, but with the help of divers.

"I don't care," Tom said. "I got him anyway."

He never let go of the line from 6:45 p. m. Monday until 1:30 p. m. Tuesday when two divers ran an oar through the ray's gills and helped Tom haul him to the beach with a boat.

A huge crowd, part of the thousands who came by during the day, had gathered.

Tom wouldn't leave the 600-foot-long Patrick Air Force Base pier after he hooked into the ray, a round, flat-bodied creature with a whip-like tail capable of inflicting severe wounds.

Through the night, his father and friends fed him coffee. When morning and the hot Florida sun came, Tom switched to soft drinks.

His father sprayed the reel with water but it still burned Tom's hands through his heavy gloves.

Just before noon, Tom ate a ham sandwich — his only food during the battle. He was never able to bring the ray closer than 200 yards, and he decided to go after it in a boat when it played out 300 yards of his 400-yard, 98-pound test line.

Tom's battle wasn't the first at the pier. Last July, Mike Douglas, 15, battled a giant jewfish for 33 hours before losing it. Also last July, Tom landed a 310-pound shark, a record for the pier.

Lightning Bolts Curtail Gemini

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—A series of lightning bolts which caused considerable damage on the Project Gemini launching pad apparently has erased any possibility of a two-man orbital flight this year.

Officials said the mishap probably means that astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young will have to wait until early 1965 to make the first tandem flight. They were to take a three-orbit, five-hour space ride in mid-December.

As an electrical storm swept over Cape Kennedy Monday night, several lightning bolts struck the Gemini launching complex. They damaged systems in a Titan 2 rocket on the pad and in the ground support equipment.

It was the first recorded incidence of lightning damage to a rocket in the 14-year history of the cape. All rocket gantries here are supposed to be lightning-proof.

The Titan 2 was being groomed to boost a fully equipped spacecraft, which was not on the pad, on a 2,000-mile ballistic flight to test all systems, the re-entry protective heat shield and recovery techniques.

The launching, the final unmanned shot before the Grissom-Young flight, had been scheduled for Oct. 6.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Tuesday, "The effect on the launch date is not known at this time. But some equipment replacement, launch complex revalidation and systems retest will be required."

"The over-all effect of this condition may result in a delay of the first manned flight into next year," the agency said.

A spokesman said the lightning caused no visible damage — that apparently all of it took the form of short-circuits and other electrical-type damage to delicate components.

Always at the end of the line?

Get a telephone line of your own!

In this day and age, a single telephone line is not enough to handle the social and business contacts of the average family. That's because telephoning has become a way of life. If you're fit to be tied every time the phone is tied up, consider the convenience of a "two-line" home. With separate lines, one phone is almost always free for incoming or outgoing calls. And the cost is modest. Why not phone our Business Office for details?
